SANTA VISITS TAMMY. A victim of leukemia, Tammy Hincey, five years old, was honored at an early Christmas party attended by Santa Claus at her home here Monday afternoon. She wears cap because of the effects of treatment she has undergone for the past year.

Early Christmas for five-year-old

By BILL WINTER
Editor
"She's such a joy to have in our class. So angelic."
On Monday afternoon, Dec. 13, Christmas was still nearly two weeks away. But Christmas angels already could be seen in many Granite City holiday decorations, and Santa Claus himself made an appearance at the home of one of the "littles angels," five-year-old Tammy Hincey.

It was on the day after Christmas 1975 that tests confirmed she has leukemia in one of its severest forms. In 1976, Christmas came early for the Wilson School kindergarten pupil, who has grown weaker during the past 12 months from the effects of the cruel blood disorder.

Those at her extra-early holiday party included her parents, Gary and Janet Hincey, No. 2 Watertown Circle; her sisters, Michelle, 10 years old, and Tiffany, five months old; her teacher, Mrs. Metella Mason; and a few close relatives.

Santa attended, through arrangements that were aided by Jerome Juda.

Bringing candy-filled stockings and other presents, the jolly visitor told stories about various types of toys that his elves assemble.

Still cheerful and optimistic despite five hospital stays and four-times-a-week chemotherapy during much of the past year, Tammy sang "Jingle Bells," Christmas carols, "Rudolph" and other songs with Santa and the party gathering. For a time, attention focused on a 34-foot Christmas card prepared by her classmates, who had created original holiday scenes.

But most of the attention at the party was directed to the young tyro of honor, who understands the meaning of the Christmas holiday period and may also be partially aware of the special nature of this particular Christmas season.

An active child whose main hobbies have been roller skating and painting with water colors and other methods, Tammy now is confined to playing indoors with neighborhood friends—and making regular visits to Cardinal Glennon Hospital.

With her much of the time is her father, a currently unemployed die-maker. St. Louisans until moving here four years ago, the Hinceys are members of St. John's Episcopal Church, St. Louis.

After each chemotherapy treatment at the Glennon Hospital, Tammy makes a point of visiting the hospital chapel with her mother and often with a favorite member of the Glennon staff, Sister Margaret.

"Jesus, please help me be well as I am one of her prayers, and her closeness to religion is credited by her parents with helping to sustain her basically high spirit." (Continued on Page 10)

Federal probe

An intensive investigation by federal agencies has been in progress this fall and may lead to a grand jury study, possibly starting in January, the Press-Record has learned exclusively. Some governmental officials and employees have been questioned about events occurring within the past several years and are regarded as likely to be called as witnesses if a formal federal hearing is scheduled. Among the participating U.S. governmental agencies are the Internal Revenue Service and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, sources say. The state government also is thought to be taking a partial role in the investigation.

Questioning involves a department of the Madison County government and also a medium-sized city within the county, the Press-Record has been told.

Financial transactions related to private businesses are among the topics of some of the questions.

The full scope of the probe is unknown, but its potential implications are described as "explosive in nature." Individuals who say they are familiar with the line of questioning assert that it includes utilization of funds raised for election campaign purposes.

Donald B. Mackay, U.S. attorney for the Southern District of Illinois, today declined to confirm or deny whether his office is involved in preparing information for a grand jury in connection with the investigation.

Bids favorable

A series of bids for construction of a new Granite City Town Hall that range well below the architect's cost estimate were opened by township officials in the City Hall Tuesday afternoon.

Because of the large number of bids with alternate building costs and separate bidding on electrical, plumbing and heating work, construction costs were not immediately available pending completion of the figures.

Henry Gabriel, architect for the Town Hall project, said, however, that the bids "at first glance" indicate the cost of construction will be about $640,000. Estimated cost of the building work when design planning was completed was set at $825,000.

The bid opening in the City Council chambers was described by City Clerk Robert Stevens, who also is ex-officio town clerk, as "the biggest bid opening session I have seen in many years." More than 40 contractors attended the bid opening at 4:30 p.m.

"We planned to open the bids in the mayor's conference room, but because of the crowd we moved the session into the council chambers," Stevens said.

The bids were opened by Gabriel, Stevens and Fifth Ward Alderman Curtis Bevin who is chairman of the Buildings Committee. City aldermen also are township auditors and constitute the Granite City Town Board as well as the City Council.

The township received seven base bids from construction firms for the general construction work, each with four alternate offers on different

2nd Nameoki slate

Davis runs for Nameoki supervisor

A second group of candidates in the 1977 Nameoki Township election was announced today, including six incumbent town officials.

A citizens' committee for the "United for Progress" Party headed by Co-Chairmen Michael Ropac and Mrs. Eileen Miller, Bob Barton, district chairman of Republican precinct committee; Raymond Gaudette, chairman of Democratic committee of Nameoki Township; and James Counts, State Park Democratic precinct committee, announced nine "candidates selected by citizen groups represented throughout the township."

The Nameoki Township election is to be held on April 5. Harold Davis, 2220 Shirlene Drive, will run for supervisor. Carl Macios, 78 Cambridge Drive, for assessor, and Richard Peck, 2011 Sixth St., East Madison, for tax collector. Douglas Teeter, 2231 Bern Ave., will run for town clerk and Albert Bell, 4211 Division St., for highway commissioner.

Trustee candidates are W. Lee Adams, 4546 Highway 162, Norman Hessler, 2224 Dawn Ave., Joseph Boyer, 3320 VFW Lane, State Park Place, and Jerry Adams, 2573 Buenger Blvd.

Davis, Boyer and Jerry Adams are seeking township positions for the first time and the remainder of the candidates are currently Nameoki Township officials.

Ropac commented, "Although the incumbent officials were affiliated with the present supervisor when they were initially elected, they and the citizens' committee feel that certain practices and policies not consistent with good government have developed. They came in good faith." (Continued on Page 10)

Topal shot

Joe Topal, 19, of 2128 Bryan Ave., was wounded critically by a bullet to his left shoulder, and two other men were hurt during an incident at the home of Clarence Hoffman, 34, of 2128 Bryan Ave., at 12:50 a.m. Tuesday.

Topal told Barnett the man he was seeking was not at home and Barnett said he would wait inside for him to return, police were told.

When Topal refused Barnett entrance, Barnett allegedly displayed a pistol from his waistband with the hammer cocked and the gun fired, the bullet striking Topal's left shoulder, severing his jugular vein and breaking his clavicle, officers were told.

Hoffman, who had heard the disagreement, was entering the living room from his bedroom

Competition for Granite City offices

Political activity in next year's April 5 city election in Granite City stepped up sharply this week as opposition developed in the circulation of nominating petitions for nearly all city offices open to election in the 1977 balloting.

Petition forms have been obtained from City Clerk Robert Stevens' office by opposing candidates for nine of the 11 city offices which are to be filled. The only two incumbent officials who have no apparent opposition at this point are Stevens and William Dallas, Alderman of Ward One whose term expires next year.

The filing period for the Granite City municipal election will open Dec. 27. Petitions will be filed at Stevens' office in the City Hall through Jan. 31, followed by a brief withdrawal period.

Granite City voters will see some changes in the alignment of candidates on this year's ballots due to the retirement of City Treasurer Paul Rutledge and the deaths during the past two years of two veteran city aldermen.

Ronald Coleman, now alderman of the Seventh Ward, has obtained petitions as a candidate for treasurer to succeed Rutledge in the treasurer's post. This leaves the election of an alderman open in the Seventh Ward.

As a result, two potential candidates have obtained petitions as candidates for the one aldermanic post to be filled in the Seventh Ward. They are Thomas Skubish and George Gordon.

Voters are to elect a mayor, city clerk, city treasurer and eight aldermen, one each in all of the city's seven wards except in Ward Five where two aldermen are to be elected, one to a two-year term and one to the regular four-year term.

VEIHL HONORED. Ernest E. Veihl Jr. (seated), who served as a consultant for many years at St. Elizabeth Hospital, was the honoree at an appreciation ceremony at the local hospital. Veihl was a strong supporter of the hospital during its building and development campaign of 1968. His photograph is the first to hang in the fifth-floor corridor as part of a continuing project in which various persons will be similarly honored. In addition to his affiliation with St. Elizabeth, Veihl spent 41 years at Commonwealth Steel-General Steel Industries and became assistant to the vice-president in charge of foreign steel sales. Left to right with him are Sister Mary Paul, a member of the St. Elizabeth Hospital governing board; Sister Mary Frances, chief accountant; and Paul Raczewicz, vice-president.

Smith injured; critical

Raymond L. D. Smith Jr., 30, of 2601 Wayne Ave., was injured critically at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday in an accident at the Granite City Steel coke ovens where Smith was employed as a laborer.

Smith was found senseless across railroad tracks ten to 12 feet below a coke oven "bench" from which a plant spokesman said Smith was believed to have fallen.

The spokesman said there were no witnesses to the accident, but that there was a report that Smith last was seen dumping a barrel of trash over the railing of the bench. Rumors that Smith may have been struck by a rail car appeared unfounded, he said.

Smith, whose father, Raymond L. D. Smith Sr., also is employed by Granite City Steel, was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital. He was treated for abrasions to the right chest and shoulder and scalp lacerations, and was transferred to Firmin Deagle Hospital.

A member of Smith's family told the Press-Record that the young man suffered a broken neck and two breaks in the spinal column. He was unable to speak yesterday and was reported paralyzed from the waist down.

The family member also said that it has been impossible to determine details of the accident and it probably will be so until Smith is able to talk.

Property tax relief urged

The Illinois Farm Bureau has chosen "meaningful property tax relief" as its No. 1 issue in the 1977 Illinois General Assembly.

Adoption of policy positions on a wide range of public and agricultural issues was a final order of business of the 62nd annual meeting of the Illinois Farm Bureau during the weekend.

In the policy resolution on state and local revenue, the farm organization's 480 voting delegates stated:

"The Farm Bureau organization in Illinois will make meaningful property tax relief its No. 1 issue in the 1977 Illinois General Assembly through one or more of the following: Reduced levels of assessment, limitations on the increase in local tax levies changes in the state school aid formula to increase state aid to schools, and changes in the basis upon which farm land is valued for tax purposes."

"The organization will immediately implement a plan of allocating substantial increases in the use of resources to accomplish these goals."

The IFB delegates reaffirmed their position that the overall tax structure for state and local governments in Illinois should include a state income tax, a moderate local real estate property tax, sales tax, motor fuel tax and other special taxes.

Major emphasis, they said, should be placed on the income tax as a means to reduce real estate taxes and as a source of additional revenue.

The policy further states, in part: "We will support legislation: 1. 'To permit a tax credit against the state income tax liability for a portion of real property taxes paid."

"2. 'To increase the state income tax if a majority of the increased revenues are returned to local units of government for the purpose of replacing property taxes. Special emphasis should be placed on returning state revenues for the operation of public elementary and secondary schools. Local school boards should be empowered to use these moneys in any fund."

3. "Providing for a reduction in local property taxes as state revenues returned to local governments are increased."

4. "Providing the necessary revenue from non-property tax sources to pay the regular operating costs of state government out of current revenues without resorting to deficit financing."

5. "Submitting a proposed constitutional amendment to the electorate to remove that section of the 1970 Illinois Constitution which requires the abolition of the remaining personal property tax by Jan. 1, 1979."

6. "Placing the major responsibility for financing public elementary and secondary education on the state providing that this state support comes from non-property tax sources with a reduction in the reliance on local property taxes for school support."

7. "Providing for a more equitable school aid formula. 8. 'To implement a study by the General Assembly to develop a source of revenue other than property tax for the support of services which are oriented to personal needs, rather than property needs, such as health services and ambulance services."

Looking toward next year when the present federal farm law expires, the Illinois Farm Bureau said government farm program efforts "should be designed to create conditions which will allow farmers to attain good incomes from the market place without reliance on government payments."

Regarding the present farm program, the delegates said the IFB will support extension of the principal provisions for major grain crops, provided it is not amended to establish target prices or loan rates at levels which would encourage the accumulation of government surpluses or to make farmers dependent upon government payments.

Regarding foreign trade, the delegates said the organization will strongly oppose restraints and controls on agricultural exports.

They said the organization also will work to stop the U.S. government and other national and international agencies from granting further economic assistance or subsidies designed to increase palm oil production. Palm oil imports, chiefly from Malaysia, are a major competitor to American soybean oil.

Record year by Monsanto

Monsanto Company's 1976 sales will approximate $4.3 billion and net income for the year should total between $70 and $80 million, John W. Hanley, chairman and president, said this week. The figures are record highs.

In making the announcement at Monsanto Company's annual management conference Monday, Hanley said these estimates place primary earnings per common share for 1976 between $10.15 and $10.40. Fully-diluted earnings per common share would fall in the range of $9.97 to $10.12.

For 1975, consolidated net sales were $3.6 billion, net income was $50.6 million and primary earnings per common share were $8.63. Fully-diluted earnings per common share for 1975 were $8.22.

Hanley said sales are expected to approximate $1.1 billion for the fourth quarter of 1976. Net income should finalize between $51 and $61 million and primary earnings per common share should be in the range of $1.37 to $1.62.

Dairymen urged to 'promote or perish'

The dairy industry must conduct a united effort against "misleading pseudo-scientific criticism," "wasteful regulations and pseudo-consumerism," a dairy industry spokesman told the dairymen's breakfast of the Illinois Milk Producers Association during the weekend at Chicago.

"Promote or perish" was the theme of Dr. C. Bronson Lane, executive director of the Dairy and Food Nutrition Council of Florida. He also urged dairymen to become involved in the legislative process.

"Dairymen provide the most wholesome, viable, nutritious food product on the market-place today. Yet, consumption of milk has slipped 100 pounds per person during the last 10 years," Lane said.

"If consumption trends continue, per capita consumption of fluid milk and cream will be at 175 pounds of milk equivalent in 1980—down 32 per cent from 1970 levels, according to government estimates."

Lane said misleading criticism ranges from such issues as "the cholesterol scare" to widespread "myths," such as the notions that milk causes wind power in the lungs, causes cramps in the stomach and provokes "cotton mouth."

"Over-regulation is also causing economic losses in the dairy industry. The dairy industry is faced with more asinine, anachronistic, archaic rules and regulations than any other food industry in this country," Lane charged.

The average milk plant in the U.S. is inspected 24 times per year. One milk plant in New Jersey was inspected 47 times in one month.

This costs both the dairy industry and the taxpayer. I urge you to take action, unify and knock out some of these regulatory relics that are impeding the free milk movement in this country."

Elmer King Jr., Pekin, was elected a new director of Illinois Milk Producers, replacing Carl Guebert of Red Bud at IMPA's annual meeting, which followed the breakfast. Other incumbent directors and officers were re-elected.

Shrine Club to ring bells

The Tri-City Shrine Club will man the kettles for the Salvation Army on Saturday, it was announced by Joseph Wallace, president of the 465-member organization. The local Shrine has assisted in providing food baskets for needy families for many years.

The kettles will be manned from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the following stations: First Granite City National Bank, A&P Food Store, Woodworth's, Schermer's Market in Madison, National Food Store, Tri-City Grocery in Bellemeur Village, Kroger Store, Central Hardware, K-Mart, Schnuck's Food Store, Madison Bank and Schermer's Market in Pontoon Beach.

The volunteers have been scheduled to ring the bells in two hour shifts. A goal of $2,000 has been set by the Shrine Club officers. Any Shrine that has not been assigned a duty station may contact Wallace at 876-7209, or Warren Decatur at 931-0000.

Partial payment ok'd for Chouteau township hall

Payments totaling $24,601 for the new Chouteau Township hall and community center, now under construction, were authorized by the Chouteau Town Board of Auditors during the board's regular meeting Monday night.

The partial payments are to the contractors for the work done thus far on the building. The exterior shell is taking shape rapidly and interior work has begun.

Payments authorized were $20,048 to Meredith Wilson Construction Co., general contractor; $1,853 to Wegman Electric, electrical contractor; and $2,700 to Modern Plumbing Co., plumbing contractor.

The board also acted on advice from the highway department's attorney, William Schooley, who suggested it rescind action taken at the Nov. 12 meeting adding $5,000 to a new purchase of equipment fund in the permanent road account. That money was to be raised by selling an anticipation warrant.

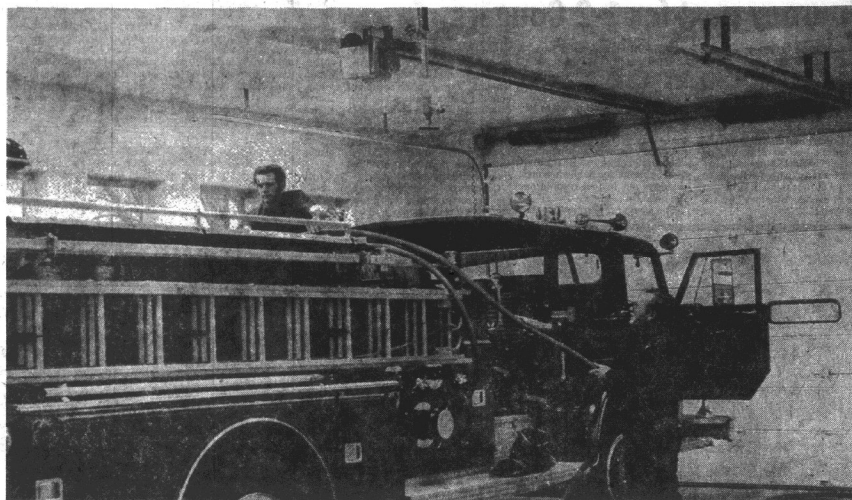

Schooley suggested that action and a related transfer be rescinded and $5,000 already available in a separate new equipment fund be used to help pay part of the money due on a truck and tractor the highway department has.

The board also voted to transfer $2,000 in the permanent road fund from salaries to purchase of equipment to aid in the balancing of those books. A motion to pay the $5,000 from the separate new equipment fund to the bank holding the title on the truck and tractor was approved, even though the total final payment due is $7,500. It was noted the partial payment will reduce the interest and late charges on the loan until the balance can be paid.

Change date of swine flu booster clinic

Those who were administered one flu shot and told they would require a second may receive the free immunization between 2 and 6 p.m. Jan. 12 in the Wiseman Room of the hospital. Persons aged 3 to 24 also may receive their initial shot during this clinic.

NEW FIRE STATION FACILITIES are put into use by Jim Pyle, on top of truck, assisted by Ray Romine, shift commander, as they fill the pumper Friday afternoon, the first day the station was put into use.

Attached to the ceiling above the truck are the electric door openers which are controlled by panels at each entrance to the garage section of the station. The pipe coming from the ceiling can also be used to fill the pumper.

Tourney next for 1-2 Cougars

"Coach Jim Dudley of the SIUE basketball team wasn't about to cry 'foul' as his Cougar cagers lost to the Indiana-Purdue U. at Indianapolis Metros 97-88 during the weekend at the Hoosier state capital. If Dudley had chosen to blame his team's loss on officiating by "hooner" whistle blowers, there aren't many who would have faulted him, inasmuch as he lost five of his six "starters" by the foul route.

"We still should have won," says Dudley. He explained, "We didn't get the performances from our bench which we thought we'd get. Our bench could prove to be our strength this year, but at Indianapolis it didn't work out that way. This development may force us to go to a number of freshmen, like Bill Branz and Tom Schmidt, for help when our regulars get in foul trouble on the road."

The Cougars, dominating the game in most of the first half, leaped out to a 40-32 lead at the intermission. But, there were warning signs of trouble to come. SIUE's main man, Bob Catchings, was in foul trouble early, as were Jim Allen, Mike Miller and Bobby Herrod. The Cougars' sixth man, LeRoy Oliver, quickly was hit with three foul calls, too. All five eventually fouled out. Catchings failed to make it past 10 minutes into the second half. His absence, particularly in rebounding, permitted the Metros to get back in the game and eventually to win it. But, said Dudley, "IUPUI has a good team; you can't take it away from them. They'll win more than they'll lose." The Metros are 6-2 for the season, while the Cougars are now 1-2. Keil Peebles of SIUE, with 30 points, outduelled the winners Julius Norman, who finished with 28. After three games, Peebles, who led all SIUE scorers last season, is shooting at a 19.3 per game clip. He's closely followed by his running mate at guard, Bobby Herrod, and wingman Catchings, both averaging 16 points per game. SIUE's other two tall men, Mike Miller and Jim Allen, are hitting at eight and six per-game averages. Catchings, the Cougars' top rebounder last year as a junior, is again pacing the SIUE squad in that category with an average of 12. This week, the Cougars will again be on the road as they take part in the three-day Windy City Cage Classic at Chicago, today, Friday and

SIUE strong in heavier weights

The SIUE wrestling team battled to a third-place finish in the Central Missouri Invitational during the weekend in a meet dominated by the three Illinois schools that competed.

Eastern Illinois (EIU) won the event with 89½ points, followed by Illinois State (ISU) with 75½ points, and the Cougars of SIUE 58½. Central Missouri State was fourth with 49½ points, the University of Nebraska-Omaha fifth with 24½, Graceland College of Iowa sixth with 17½ and Southwest Missouri State last with 3½ points.

SIUE's matmen, led by Terry Murelin, won three weight classes. Murelin, a junior from Oak Lawn, remained undefeated this season, capturing the 126-pound class by defeating Gil Duran of EIU, 12-9. Dave Byrne, Des Plaines, won at 167 by outpointing Dave Williams (ISU), 9-3. At 190 pounds, Jerry Washington, a junior from Harvey, won over Jim Marsh (EIU), 8-2. Dru Meeshes lost his bid to become the fourth SIUE winner when he lost to Barry Hinteoz of EIU, 20-7. Scott Hutchison (SIUE) fought his way to fourth place at 184 pounds, and heavyweight Charles Scott (SIUE) whipped Kirby Monahan (Nebraska-Omaha) 12-2 for the third position in his class.

"Mark Hattendorf wrestled, but he was still feeling the effects of strep throat," remarked Cougar Coach Larry Kristoff. "We didn't bring Greg Tuck and several others, and we did about what I had expected. There were some good teams in the invitational."

The next test for the Cougars will be the Bull State invitational in Muncie, Ind., Saturday.

Nearly New Clothing Center closes

The Nearly New Clothing Center, operated since 1967 under sponsorship of Church Women United, has ceased its distribution of used clothing to students and others and will discontinue its total operation when the present funds are depleted.

Originally started in the Coordinated Youth Services building, the center most recently was located at 1412 Niedringhaus Ave.

Several factors have contributed to the facility being closed, Mrs. Margaret Pennell, Church Women United president, explained.

"Supported totally by donations of clothing and funds by individuals and churches, the service has grown to become substantially one of the main outlets in the area supplying needy persons, principally school-age children, with attractive and useful clothing," she said.

"Unfortunately, over the past few years this increased demand has coincided with a reduction in donations of 'nearly new' clothing, making it necessary to rely on funding to purchase clothing, which previously was donated."

"Sufficient funds to support this added responsibility have not been forthcoming. For this reason we regretfully have been forced to withdraw our sponsorship of the operation," Mrs. Pennell stated.

"We hope another funded agency will be able to assume responsibility for this very dire need in the community, and certainly we will assist any group in its efforts," the CWU president commented.

On an annual budget of approximately $849, the center has helped an average of 355 clients each year, Mrs. Pennell stated.

The center was developed 9½ years ago by Mrs. Joyce Schreder, who served as its first director.

Between its opening in March 1967 until Dec. 31 of that year, the center served 233 individuals. This year, from Jan. 1 through Dec. 1, a total of 688 persons was supplied with clothing.

Mrs. Vanetta Leimkuhler, the most recent director of operations at the center, stated, "We were able to assist these clients only because of the generosity of our supporters and the untiring efforts of our volunteers."

For the past several years, the list of volunteers has included Mrs. Virginia Kessler, Mrs. Marge Noeth, Mrs. Lee Reilly, Mrs. Marcella Rowold and Mrs. Wanda Lohman, the director reported.

Mrs. Leimkuhler attributes the reduction in clothing donations to two factors. "The type of clothing in which youngsters now feel comfortable has changed. For the past few years, jeans have been the selected outerwear of the school-aged children, but they are worn until they are threadbare. They are not 'nearly new' when the young people have finished wearing them."

"In addition," she commented, "because of the economic crunch, the types of clothing previously sent to the center are being sold at garage sales, and we have certainly felt their absence," she added.

"Church Women United has always used its donated funds to supplement the supplies of clothing it received from individual donors," Mrs. Leimkuhler said.

"It has been customary to purchase shoes, undergarments and coats," Mrs. Leimkuhler pointed out, "but more recently, such items as jeans have been added to the list and the necessary additional funds have not been available."

The "Sales for Souls" project, which the group conducted to purchase shoes for school children in need, will be continued until the fund is depleted. School administrators currently are referring needy children to Mrs. Leimkuhler to have their shoe needs satisfied, hopefully before Christmas, it was learned.

"All other monetary donations which have been received since our decision to close the Nearly New Center will be used to purchase jackets, jeans and undergarments, as they are needed," Mrs. Pennell emphasized.

"However, we are not any longer equipped to dispense used clothing," she stressed. The Church Women United's Layette project, which supplies infant needs to newborns, will continue its operation, with the main thrust of CWU support being directed toward it.

"We appreciate the assistance and support the community has given us over the years, and we hope we can continue to serve it with our Layette project and with other community services as the needs arise," Mrs. Pennell stated.

John Valencia heads Mexican Commission

John Valencia was elected president of the Mexican Honorary Commission of Granite City at its meeting this week at the MHC Club, 1801 Spruce St.

He succeeds Robert Robles in the office. Robles has served as president for two years. Also chosen to lead the club in 1977 were: Joseph Becerra, first vice-president; Ronald Valencia, second vice-president; Miss Lisa Garcia, secretary; Robert Martinez, treasurer; and Ted Antoff, Otis Valencia, Rony Valencia and Rufus Valencia, trustees.

Robles addressed members briefly and urged the club to "continue to grow and to be proud of our heritage."

The commission's annual Christmas party for children was set for 2 p.m. Sunday at the club.

Mrs. Mary Martinez and Mrs. Rose Grimm, chairmen, said a special program has been arranged and Santa Claus will visit and distribute gifts.

Families planning to attend are asked to bring a covered dish food item for the Christmas luncheon, which follows Sunday's program.

Donald Valencia, chairman, urged the members also to contribute canned goods for the group's holiday baskets for needy families.

Noting there is a lot of work preparing the gift baskets, Valencia asked that donated items be brought to the club during the children's party.

A New Year's Eve dance was discussed and it was agreed to open the event to the public.

A charge of $10 per person will include free beer, setups, breakfast, noisemakers, hats and serpentine. Music for dancing will be furnished by Phono II. Further information may be secured by calling 876-0505, or 877-5071, the new president announced.

Rites held for Mrs. Kasting, 81

Funeral services were held Monday morning at a Granite City funeral home for Mrs. Dorothy Kasting, 81, formerly of Granite City. She died at 12:45 a.m. Friday at St. Joseph's Hospital, Highland.

Survivors include three sons, Nelson Kasting of East Alton, Russell Kasting of Granite City and Bernard Kasting of Ferguson, Mo.; three daughters, Mrs. George (Audrey) West of Hartford, Mrs. Sylvester (Laverne) Harris of Madison and Mrs. Elvira Gram of Granite City; 21 grandchildren and many great-grandchildren.

Burial was in St. John Cemetery, 2901 Nameoki Road.

Mrs. Dale Rea, 3266 Kilarney Drive, was hostess to the Christmas meeting of Chapter KU, P.E.O. Sisterhood, Tuesday night, held in her home.

An unusual program was given by Mrs. Larry Dew, who read a number of letters written by children to Santa Claus, and was followed by the group exchanging holiday presents. Mrs. Alma Gruen, president at the short business session and introduced her daughter, Mrs. William (Janet) Hunt and daughter Sue Hunt, who are visiting here from Sidney, Australia. ## Bids phases of construction. In addition, eight different firms bid on the electrical contract, four on the plumbing work and eight on the heating and plumbing installations.

Gabriel said that he and the Buildings Committee will study the bids to determine the lowest combination price for all of the building work.

The City Council, which will convene Dec. 21 as the Town Board prior to its regular council meeting, is expected to award a contract at that time on the basis of the committee's recommendations.

The lowest base bid for general construction was submitted by S. M. Wilson Co. at $26,281, with four alternates.

$23,706 for installation of one additional "bay" which would enlarge the auditorium section of the building; $22,413 as an alternate cost for construction of two additional bays; $5,236 for raising the ceiling 12 inches above original design standards, and a $3,015 alternate for added space around wall sections.

Other base bids, with alternates in the same order as those above, were:

M. H. Wolfe & Co., Granite City, $458,200 base bid; $24,600, $21,900, $5,300 and $5,860, an alternate.

Ed Moore Contractors, Granite City, $418,824 base bid; $26,275, $58,651, $3,850 and $2,465.

L. Wolfe Co., Granite City, $418,610 base bid; $22,843, $47,790, $5,750 and $3,032.

R. & M. Construction, Edwardsville, $456,300 base bid; $26,884, $37,580, $5,860 and $2,200.

J. J. Altman Co., Alton,

$445,500 base bid; $25,540, $58,400, $6,100 and $3,800.

G. H. Sternberg & Co., Granite City, $424,710 base bid; $21,044, $45,875, $5,952 and $4,882.

As now planned, the auditorium section will accommodate 500 persons and will include kitchen facilities and rest rooms.

Gabriel said the auditorium primarily will be used for senior citizen activities. Other parts of the building will provide township offices for the assessor and for the township supervisor, as well as offices for the special education program of the Granite City School district.

The building is to be constructed on the site of the old Central Junior High School which was donated to the township by the school district in an agreement under which the new building is to provide space for the special education program for five years.

The town hall building was proposed by town officials in 1973 when an appropriation of $232,000 was set aside out of the townships first allotments of federal revenue sharing money.

Since that time additional appropriations have been added to the fund each year.

Gabriel said the construction is expected to take about one year with occupancy expected early in 1978.

The Fifth Ward election of two aldermen results from the death in November 1975 of Walter F. Nonn, an alderman for 32 years. Mr. Nonn had been elected to a four-year term the previous April, leaving three years of his term open.

Incumbent Alderman Curtis Blevins was appointed to the remainder of the term, but under the law the office is subject to election for the last two years of the term in the next election, which falls on April 5 next year.

The regular term of Steve Basarich also expires in the Fifth Ward next April, meaning that post also is subject to election for a new four-year term. Basarich has obtained petitions as a candidate for reelection.

Blevins will seek re-election to the remaining two years of the term to which he was appointed. Two other candidates have obtained petitions as candidates for the two-year

Competition

Five persons already have obtained petitions as candidates for aldermanic posts in the Fifth Ward. Three of these are candidates for the two-year term now being served by Curtis Blevins by appointment.

Mayor Paul Schuler has obtained petitions as a candidate for re-election as mayor, while Dan Partney, a son of the late Mayor Donald Partney, has taken out petitions as a candidate for the mayoralty post.

Coleman also has apparent opposition in his bid for the treasurer's office. Petitions as a candidate for that office also have been placed in circulation by Christ W. VonNida.

In Ward Two, incumbent alderman Frank Greenwald has obtained petitions as a candidate for re-election. Petitions for that office also have been obtained by Randall R. Hill and Fred Schuman Jr.

There are three apparent candidates for the one aldermanic post in Ward Three, including Roy Poston, incumbent, Walt Padgett and Nelson Dunlap.

Glen Sprankle, incumbent alderman of Ward Four, has obtained nominating petitions for re-election. Sprankle was appointed to the post earlier this year following the death of R. E. Robertson whose term was to expire next year.

Each elected official must be allowed to operate his own office with cooperation from each other to effectively serve the people.

"Careful consideration has been made in the selection of these candidates to retain persons who have demonstrated efficient and dedicated service to the township—and to include new candidates who are qualified for their respective positions and are highly respected in their community."

to replace those who have served well but have chosen not to continue.

and in the interest of harmony continue together. The present supervisor recently requested to be included on the slate with the incumbents and was rejected.

"Although no major effort was made to oppose him in his last election for the County Board, many of the incumbents did announce they were not endorsing him, nor did he receive their support in his recent bid in the state representative election."

"The committee believes that he is too indebted to other political leaders to effectively lead the township, and that too much effort has been made on his part to impose his demands on other officials and units of government."

Long Illinois farm history

(100th of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series)

Although the Quad-City area is mostly urbanized, agriculture still plays a big role in Madison County, 164 years after the formation of the county and 168 years after the state was created.

Agriculture built Illinois, fed the cities, and created the capital and raw materials on which the industrial base was built between 1865 and the turn of the century.

Whether north or south, the population of Illinois was overwhelmingly agrarian at the close of the Civil War.

Only Chicago, Quincy and Peoria had populations of more than 10,000 in 1860.

Springfield, Bloomington, Aurora, Rockford and Galesburg were the only five to join them in 1870.

As the surge toward the cities began, however, rural dwellers declined proportionately, so that by 1890 less than one third of the state's workers were engaged in farming.

The number was down to less than one fourth by 1900.

An absolute decline in farm population, however, still left the state with more than 250,000 farms in 1900, with farming far the most populous industry in the state.

The average Illinois farmer at the turn of the century lived in a salubrious house on 124 acres of land.

If he were a tenant farmer he probably lived in the central or northern part of the state, as the less productive, acreage in Egypt remained in the hands of owner-operators.

His farm was worth $7,500 on the average, and if he were especially prosperous and progressive he might own an Illinois-invented wheel shocker, cow-milker or silage cutter to help in the work.

Manure remained the main fertilizer, and the turn-of-the-century farmer might spend $3 per year fertilizing his land.

His farm was probably planted 80 per cent in corn and 20 per cent in wheat to correspond to the ten million acres of corn and two million acres of wheat grown in that year, although other crops were grown as well.

His gross income was $1,300, supplemented with produce from his truck garden which made him largely self-sufficient.

He probably lived on land inherited from his father, for 55 per cent remained on family land.

Kerosene lamps lit his home; fireplaces and stoves heated it; and hard work kept it going.

The exodus of workers from the farm was vital to Illinois, as the burgeoning industrial cities demanded more and more unskilled labor.

Why did men leave the land? One impetus was "the steady transference during the period of various industries from the household to the factory" and increased mechanical efficiency which required fewer "hands" to do farm work.

Emigration also took large numbers of the farm population to greener pastures to the West.

Illinois lost the greatest number (320,000) of any state between 1870-1880, and again between 1880-1890.

More than half a million Kansans that year were from Illinois, as competition for the new Western grain states affected both agricultural prices and the number of farmers willing to stay on Illinois' more expensive land.

There may have been fewer farmers, but all other indices rose, with 1880 generally representing the peak year for the period.

The number of farms increased from 202,803 in 1870 to 255,741 in 1880 before declining to 240,681 in 1890.

The percentage of land area in farms rose from 72.2 per cent in 1870 to 88.3 per cent in 1880, down to 85.0 per cent in 1890.

More important, the percentage of improved acreage rose steadily from 74.7 per cent to 84.2 per cent.

The average acreage remained fairly stable, declining slightly from 127.6 acres per farm in 1870 to 126.7 acres in 1880, and the average value of land and buildings per acre increased—from $26.30 in 1870 to $31.90 in 1880 to $50.50 in 1890.

Land and buildings represented the major value, followed by domestic animals, poultry and bees, implements and machinery.

Even if the farm did not turn a large cash profit—or any profit at all—it could supply the farmer's basic wants.

He could take pride in his crop as he saw his year of labor come to fruition under his own hands.

The Jeffersonian ideal was a faith accepted on Illinois farms, and as a result many farmers stayed on the land in Illinois to face the challenges of the twentieth century.

Shooting

when the shot was fired and he scuffed with Barnett, attempting to take the gun away, he told police.

During that scuffle, Hoffman was struck by the gun butt and suffered cuts around his right eye. Barnett also was injured, sustaining bruises around his eyes, a cut to his scalp and a nosebleed.

Hoffman was released after treatment at St. Elizabeth Hospital and Barnett was admitted after x-rays were taken, he told police.

Topal, who was found bleeding profusely, was administered first aid at the scene by police and was taken by ambulance to the hospital where he underwent surgery and was admitted to the intensive care unit.

Police reported Topal was sitting in a chair in a rear bedroom when they arrived and a towel tourniquet had to be applied to stop the bleeding until the ambulance arrived.

Officers at the scene recovered a 22 caliber pistol they said was given them by Hoffman.

Barnett was questioned in the hospital and told officers he did not intend to shoot Topal, but the gun discharged accidentally, officers related.

They said Barnett contends he only showed the gun to Topal to indicate "he really meant business" they reported.

Barnett was charged with a felony count of aggravated battery and bond is to be set when he is released from the hospital.

Barnett was taken from the hospital to jail yesterday and at 5 p.m. yesterday, Associate Judge Merlin Hiscott ordered him released on his own recognizance without having to post a $15,000 bond.

despite occasional interludes of sadness.

Although she required two weeks hospitalizations at several points this year, it was decided to enroll Tammy in Mrs. Mason's kindergarten class a short time after the fall semester began.

A happy recollection for her is the fifth birthday party held in her honor by the class on Sept. 21.

She remained a student at Wilson long enough to receive her first report card, and in recent weeks has studied at home, with lessons provided by the teacher and brought home daily by her older sister, a Wilson fifth grader.

Tammy was invested Monday evening as a Little Sister of Michelle's Girl Scout unit, Troop 267, and also has just been designated as an honorary member of the Brownies.

Buoyed by these events and by the party, she is continuing her studies and her prayers and courageously awaiting whatever the future has in store.

Friends say Tammy will be much in their prayers as Christmas approaches.

Levee trustees act to buy GC garage property

Purchase by the Metro-East Sanitary District of the building and property at 1801 Madison Avenue formerly occupied by Hundley Auto Sales was authorized by the district's three board trustees in a special meeting in Granite City Wednesday afternoon.

The board authorized its president, Russell Robinson of Granite City, to take an option on the property for purchase at a price not to exceed $89,000. The building, if the purchase is completed, will be used as levee district offices and garage for the Quad-City sector of the new Metro-East Sanitary District, comprising Granite City, Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau townships. The district also includes East St. Louis, Centerville, Sites and Canton townships in St. Clair County.

A district official said today that the new location would replace the present Quad-City quarters at 1707 Madison Avenue, which are rented at $275 per month from B. E. Hohl. No remodeling would be required since garage facilities and office quarters of the former auto sales agency would meet all of the district's requirements without change.

Levee board members also are in agreement to sell a portion of right-of-way at 18th Street and Madison Avenue at the new location to the State Department of Transportation for installation of a electric traffic signal system.

Plans by Granite City and the state to signalize the intersection to facilitate operation of a truck route over 18th Street have been delayed by the right-of-way requirements at the intersection, part of which involves easements on part of the former auto sales agency property. The levee district expects to receive $6,000 for the right-of-way, cutting the district's outlay for the property to $81,000, the board said.

The board also authorized

Carpenter walked to the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for small abrasions to his right elbow and was released.

Answers to the post-trial motions by Harry Hartman, attorney for the county's special sewer committee, also will be considered during tomorrow's hearing.

State pension board assailed

The Illinois Public Employees Pension Commission has refused to take a stand on a number of issues involving retirement benefits for the more than 160,000 members of the system, Curtis Platt, executive secretary of the Illinois Education Association, charged this week.

At its most recent meeting, Dec. 10, the commission was asked to commit itself to studying ways to improve the system, to provide additional benefits to members, and to seek ways to fund the system, which is presently believed to be underfunded by $1.8 billion, Platt said.

Management by objectives policy voted for schools

"Management by objectives" was adopted as a policy of the Granite City community unit school district at a Board of Education meeting Tuesday night.

Goals will include efficiency and effectiveness, with "reasonable objectives" developed in line with accepted educational and instructional goals.

Among those helping determine goals will be the board, administrative staff and individual administrators, seeking to reflect district-wide, departmental and personal objectives.

Progress toward achieving objectives will be reviewed at least twice yearly.

It is hoped to launch the MBO program within 90 days, and it will be one of the topics at the board's next meeting Jan. 11.

Meetings normally held on Jan. 4 and 18 will not take place. The board hired Harry Hill, 1310 Twenty-second St., as a custodian, with the specific assignment yet to be chosen.

Regarding present staff members, the board designated John Sikora as Grigsby Junior High assistant track coach, Dennis Kunemann as GCHS North assistant baseball coach and Mrs. Janet Burnett as North's assistant cheerleader sponsor.

Mrs. Janice Carmody, a morning kindergarten teacher at Wilson School, was hired also for a new half-day class at McKinley School.

Board members reviewed the cafeteria substitute worker list, adding 13 names and deleting eight to increase the number available from 33 to 38.

Hourly rate for substitute secretaries was raised from $2.20 to $2.95 effective Jan. 3, 1977.

The board noted a slight enrollment increase, from 12,593 on Oct. 31 to 12,603 on Nov. 30, and praised the attainment of 94.1% per cent student attendance in 1976-77 through Nov. 30.

New teachers starting in January will be Michael R. Hanks, Beaver Dam, Wis., holder of a University of Wisconsin bachelor degree, as a GCHS South drafting teacher; Miss Karen Jean Foy, 2344 Gary Ave., STUE bachelor degree, McKinley School upper primary class; and Mrs. Linda Lee Wainale, 3200 Erin Drive, STUE bachelor degree, Parkview School middle intermediate class.

A request for extension of employment beyond the age of 65 was denied, in accord with present school policy.

Spring leaves of absence were granted to Mrs. Cheryl Pond, Marshall middle primary teacher, Mrs. Donna Lobdell, Wilson lower intermediate teacher, and Mrs. Jean Zotti, Lake middle primary teacher.

County approves highway program

During a brief meeting Wednesday, the Madison County Board approved a five-year highway improvement plan, hired the R. C. Scheffle Co. to audit the county's financial records for the fiscal year, approved holidays for courthouse and county employees, and established the dates for the county board meetings for the next two years.

The five-year highway plan includes the extension and improvement of Maryville Road from Pontoon Road to Route 162, which already is contracted for construction, and concrete paving of Paag Road from Bluff Road to Route 111, a project which about is 70 per cent complete.

No other major improvements of county roads are anticipated in this area for the next five years.

The board also granted courthouse employees Friday, Dec. 24, and Friday, Dec. 31 days off in observance of Christmas and New Year's. Other holidays for the year were established.

In other action, pay increases of $78 per month were granted to all county employees not given a raise through union contracts or previous actions of the county board. About 15 persons will receive the raise, which matches the increase union members received.

Madison ok's plans for $2 million steel plant

By WALTER STRANGE, Press-Record Staff Writer

Agreements under which a new steel processing plant will be built in the Stephen Maers Industrial Park at Madison at a cost of $2 million were approved by the Madison City Council in a regular meeting Tuesday night.

The plant will be built and operated by the Southwest Steel Co. of St. Louis which will buy eight acres of land in the industrial park and finance construction through issuance of $2 million in bonds, council members were told.

The council at the same time approved an application for a federal assistance grant of $24,600 under the Public Works Development Employment Act, administered by the U.S. Department of Commerce.

The proposed project includes the construction of an addition to the existing city hall building to house a new jail facility, construction of a 6,300-square-foot public works garage for vehicle maintenance and the construction of an addition to the Madison Public Library.

Operation of the new steel plant which will process sheet, strip and plate steel, is due to begin by mid-summer.

The $2 million in bonds to be sold already have been pledged according to city officials, with a St. Louis bank purchasing $1.5 million and the Federal National Bank at Madison, $500,000.

The city is selling the company eight acres of land at $10,000 an acre which will be located between the Zimring Co. and Swift Co.

The plant initially will employ 85 workers. Employment preference will go to Madison residents who are qualified, according to Mayor Mike Sayak.

It was noted that the new plant is a customer of Granite City Steel and purchases no imported steel from abroad. A railroad to the new plant also will be built.

The council enacted an ordinance changing the name of Caine Drive to McCasland Avenue and directed the superintendent of streets to post appropriate street signs.

John E. Howland, 49, of Rural Route One, Box 1264, Granite City, was burned seriously when molten steel in an ingot mold erupted, showering him with the hot metal at the Granite City Steel Plant furnace department at 10:25 p.m. yesterday.

Two other employees suffered burns while attempting to extinguish Howland's flaming clothing and to brush the steel off him.

Howland was listed in fair condition today in the intensive care unit of St. John's Mercy Hospital, St. Louis, where he was transferred after being treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Steel company officials said they have not been able to determine why the molten steel erupted.

Howland was removing the caps from "bottle" ingot molds on railroad car type narrow-gauge buggies a short time after the ingots had been filled at the Basic Oxygen Furnace, when one of the ingots erupted, catching Howland in a shower of molten steel particles.

His clothing burst into flames, and two other employees, George Newman, 55, Buncombe, Ill., and Lawrence Riggs, 60, of 2130 Grand Ave., ran to his aid, attempting to brush the metal from Howland's clothing and body and to extinguish the flames.

Newman suffered third-degree burns to his right hand and stomach and Riggs suffered first and second degree burns to both hands and his left chest and small burns on his chest.

The three were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where Newman and Riggs were released after treatment.

Dressings were applied to Howland for burns on 25 percent of his body, including his face, ears, hands, chest, arms, trunk, back and thighs. The right side of his body, particularly his right hand and arm, was the most seriously burned.

After dressings were applied here, he was transferred to the St. Louis hospital.

Steel officials said an investigation is under way to determine what could have caused the molten steel in the mold to erupt.

Granite City Board of Education on Tuesday night created the position of reading specialist at Coolidge Junior High School and authorized the start of a reading laboratory program there at the beginning of the second 1976-77 semester.

The program will be similar to one at Frasier Junior High, offering small group instruction to a limited number of students referred by classroom teachers and determined by tests to meet the criteria.

A classroom will occupy a 40-foot-long section of the 120-foot-long structure, and the rest of the space will be utilized for storage and garage purposes. The school district will provide materials for the reconstruction.

DeMolays will be at the banks from 4 to 7 p.m. Friday and at the shopping centers from 6 to 9 p.m. on Friday.

Proceeds of the drive will be used for the children at the Shriner's Crippled Children Hospital, according to Robert DeCourcy, master councilor of James Stuart Chapter.

The Illinois DeMolay goal is $10,000.

DeMolays of James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, will take donations of the Shriner's Crippled Children Hospital and distribute candy cans in appreciation for donations on Friday, in cooperation with the state-wide DeMolay "Kanes For Kiddies Drive."

DeMolays will be at the banks from 4 to 7 p.m. Friday and at the shopping centers from 6 to 9 p.m. on Friday.

Traffic safety for toddlers

The Automobile Club has launched a program designed to make preschool children aware of traffic dangers as they go out into the world on their own.

"Preschool Children in Traffic," the first program of its kind, is aimed at children from 3 to 6 years of age.

Children under six represent a major segment of society that normally is not reached by the nation's education system, the club said today. They comprise 9.3 percent of the population but account for 23 percent of the pedestrian fatalities and injuries.

Every year, about 20,000 preschool children are killed or disabled as pedestrians in motor vehicle accidents.

To help prevent these tragedies, the AAA has developed a five-booklet series, one guidebook for parents and teachers, and four storybooks for children.

The stories along with children and point out the hazards of mixing with vehicles of all kinds. The program stresses learning by doing in on-the-street traffic situations.

The storybook series first creates an awareness of the functions of curbs, sidewalks, streets and vehicles and goes on to explain the meanings of traffic signs and signals.

Statistics show that a child is in greatest danger when everything appears to be peaceful and safe. Most accidents involving preschool youngsters as pedestrians occur on residential streets with little traffic, in good weather and when children are playing outside.

The main danger lies in a child's habit of darting into the street without comprehending the dangers, a spokesman said.

Three workers burned as steel mold erupts

John E. Howland, 49, of Rural Route One, Box 1264, Granite City, was burned seriously when molten steel in an ingot mold erupted, showering him with the hot metal at the Granite City Steel Plant furnace department at 10:25 p.m. yesterday.

Two other employees suffered burns while attempting to extinguish Howland's flaming clothing and to brush the steel off him.

Howland was listed in fair condition today in the intensive care unit of St. John's Mercy Hospital, St. Louis, where he was transferred after being treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Steel company officials said they have not been able to determine why the molten steel erupted.

Howland was removing the caps from "bottle" ingot molds on railroad car type narrow-gauge buggies a short time after the ingots had been filled at the Basic Oxygen Furnace, when one of the ingots erupted, catching Howland in a shower of molten steel particles.

His clothing burst into flames, and two other employees, George Newman, 55, Buncombe, Ill., and Lawrence Riggs, 60, of 2130 Grand Ave., ran to his

Goal turns loss to win for Lebanon at MHS

What appeared to be a probable one-point victory for Madison's Trojans faded with the time on the clock Tuesday night at Madison as Greyhound Rodney Brooks hit a 10-foot jump shot with five seconds to play, giving Lebanon a 60-59 win over the hosts.

The decisive basket caused Madison High basketball fans to recall the 1975-76 season Class A Vandalia sectional game between the two powerhouses.

Coach Larry Graham's Trojans held a 72-71 lead over the Greyhounds until since-graduated Don Burns scored a field goal at the buzzer.

Lebanon is now undefeated for 1976-77 with four wins against no losses, and Madison has a 3-1 record. They potentially again could meet in post-season competition, offering the Trojans a chance to avenge the narrow defeat.

In quarter scores here Tuesday, Madison led 16-14 and 28-22 and then trailed 42-40. Graham's cagers had enjoyed a 40-30 lead with 5:52 left in the third period but Brooks connected with four field goals and teammate Richard Norman added four points to put Lebanon on top.

Madison's ability to hit the net faltered in the third period, the team meshing five shots of 15 attempted while Lebanon made 10 of 19 from the field.

With two minutes to play, and Lebanon still ahead, 58-55, Trojan Anthony King hit both ends of a one-and-one effort from the foul line.

Madison's Randall Jones gave his team a 59-58 lead on a layup shot with 38 seconds left. Then came the deciding basket by Brooks.

Lebanon's defense prevented Madison from passing inside to Randall Jones throughout the first half, forcing the Trojans to attempt long-range shots from both sides of the net.

It wasn't until final two quarters that Madison penetrated Lebanon's blockade of the inside lane.

From the floor, Madison made 26 of 73 attempts and the Greyhounds 27 of 64.

Madison edged Lebanon at the free throw line 7-6, and had the fewest turnovers, 16-20.

Lebanon controlled the boards with 47 rebounds to Madison's 37. Jones, a 6-5 senior, pulled down 15 rebounds for Madison.

Four Greyhounds accounted for 50 of Lebanon's points. Brooks had 18, Norman 12 and Ray Mack and Harvey Thomas 10 each.

Jones, who played all of the final quarter with four fouls against him, racked up 30 points for Madison, including 14 field goals.

Rodney Davis scored 12, King 11, and Kenny Stanley, Ron Williams and Clayton Harris, two points each.

South five overcomes flu, foe for 7th win

GCHS South's basketball Warriors have an impressive 7-2 record which includes a decisive 65-39 win Tuesday night at St. Louis Rosary High. Coach Don Deterding's cagers led 16-4, 32-15 and 40-25 at the quarters, displaying team balance and considerable scoring power even without the services of high pointmaker Terry Angle.

Angle, a 6-3 junior who has put double figures on the scoreboard each game this season, stayed at home battling the flu.

South made 24 field goals and seven free throws while committing 16 fouls and 13 turnovers. Rosary connected for 15 baskets and nine charity tosses and fouled 22 times.

The St. Louis squad yielded possession of the ball on turnovers 29 times, but controlled the boards 35-27.

"Turnovers resulting from our defensive efforts hurt Rosary in the first half," remarked Deterding.

His record as a coach is now 100-66.

"And Tom Hennrich's ball handling talents in breaking through their defensive press aided our ability to put points on the board."

The mentor said Hennrich, a 5-8 junior, has been "super" in bringing the ball downcourt through opponents' defense and has been averaging seven scoring assists per game. Rosary keyed its defense on Tim Anderson and John Slay but then switched to man-to-man coverage when Roland Hurt, 6-0 senior filling in for Angle, began scoring from under the basket.

Hurt, seeing varsity action for the first time, scored 14 points for South to go with Slay's 16. David Rhodes had 12, Hennrich seven and Anderson, six.

More school books are to be provided here by State

Rules and regulations to govern purchase and distribution of textbooks under the state's new secular textbook loan program have been filed with the Illinois State Board of Education by State Education Superintendent Joseph M. Cronin.

Under the rules, public and nonpublic schools are to notify students and their parents of the procedures for requesting free loan of textbooks.

Schools are to compile the student or parent requests and are to forward them to regional superintendents of schools by March 15 of each year. The regional superintendents are to send all requests from their regions to the Illinois Office of Education by March 31.

Dr. Cronin said that schools will be notified by April 30 which texts the state education office will purchase for student loan.

These books will be ordered and paid for by the state education office, but will be shipped to the schools for distribution to the students requesting them.

He noted that $3.5 million has been appropriated for the 1976-77 fiscal year to purchase secular textbooks this spring for use by the state's school children next fall.

Supt. Cronin advised parents, however, not to expect all textbooks to be provided free during the initial phases of the program.

"While $3.5 million is far more generous than the one-half-cent per student provided by the previous $10,000 appropriation, it will come nowhere near the actual amount needed for the public school textbooks next year," he said.

He noted that the appropriation is far short of the $27 million requested by the State Board of Education to cover the estimated $10 per student textbook costs for the state's approximately 2,200,000 public and 340,000 nonpublic school students.

Because of this, Dr. Cronin said, the program will be phased in over a number of years, beginning with kindergarten students and working through the other grades until all grades are eventually included.

In addition, he noted each student will be limited to one textbook request per year until all student requests are honored.

Dr. Cronin also pointed out that even when fully phased in, the program will not cover all costs of instructional materials.

"Schools and school districts, which now budget a little under one percent for instructional materials, probably will continue to charge a fee to cover costs of workbooks and other miscellaneous items not covered under this textbook program," the state superintendent added.

A secular textbook, according to the regulations, is a printed volume "consisting of a systematically-arranged presentation of principles which may be used by students as a primary resource of study for a body of knowledge suitable for use in the public schools."

The rules and regulations for the textbook loan program were developed last spring with the assistance of an advisory committee of public and nonpublic school administrators.

An initial draft of the rules and regulations was sent to all public and nonpublic administrators for their comments and suggestions. Revisions were made based on these suggestions.

A final copy, and guidelines for implementing the program, have been mailed to administrators of all public and nonpublic schools.

Dr. Cronin noted that the state has no voice in which individual texts are selected for use in Illinois schools.

"These are local decisions," he said.

"However," he added, "the law specified that only secular textbooks can be purchased with these state funds."

Under a pilot program this fall, nearly 4,000 reading, science, mathematics, social studies and spelling books were distributed to 1,500 kindergarten, first and second grade students in three public and six nonpublic schools.

Dr. Cronin noted that the textbooks were purchased with the $10,000 appropriation which accompanied the bill establishing the new secular textbook loan program in 1975.

The legislature originally appropriated $19 million for the first year of the program, and Governor Daniel Walker cut that to $10,000 after questioning both the constitutionality of the new law and the state's ability to pay for such a program.

Gov. Walker left the $10,000 to enable a court suit to test the new bill, but no suits have been filed to date.

The legislation, sponsored by Rep. Jane Barnes of Oak Lawn and Sen. Michael Brady of Chicago, had been patterned after a similar law in Pennsylvania declared constitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court.

School children receiving the first distribution of books are enrolled in the following schools and districts: Crystal Lake; St. Thomas Elementary School, Crystal Lake; Venice Unit District No. 1, Venice; St. Mark Elementary School, Venice; Rosen- Robbins District No. 143A, Posen; St. Germaine Elementary School, Oak Lawn; and Chicago South- west Christian School, Evergreen Park.

School officials in Granite City District 9 pointed out at Tuesday night's Granite City Board of Education meeting that students in elementary and junior high schools do not pay textbook fees, since the district purchases all text materials at these levels.

Students in grades nine through twelve pay a rental fee and, according to the state guidelines, it may be a number of years before high school students will be eligible to apply for the program.

However, request forms for free loan of textbooks to pupils in kindergarten, first, and second grades will be prepared soon after the first of the year, according to Owen Humphrey, curriculum coordinator for the Granite City schools.

The form will be brief, requiring only the date, name of the child's school, city and signature of the student (or the parent-guardian).

This program will effect considerable savings to the district's textbook budget, Humphrey said. He emphasized that consumable items, such as workbooks, are not eligible under the new program.

Nonpublic schools are submitting their requests directly to the office of Harold E. Briggs, Superintendent of the Madison County Educational Service Region, 201 Hillsboro Ave., Edwardsville 62025.

Hints on keeping Yule trees fresh

By RON CORNWELL

University of Illinois Extension Advisor

A fresh Christmas tree will remain fresh and fragrant through the Christmas season if you take care of it. A dried out tree will become a fire hazard in a short period of time.

To insure a fresh tree, cut your own Christmas tree from a local tree farm. If you can't do this, purchase a tree as early as possible to insure greater freshness.

The key to keeping a Christmas tree fresh is to insure that the tree doesn't dry out. To do this, it is important that the base of the tree be kept in water from the first day of purchase.

If a tree has stood for a period of time in a sales lot, the pores in the base of the tree through which water is taken up will become plugged.

To renew the water up-take ability of the tree, a new cut should be made at an angle to the base of the tree, removing about one inch of the trunk.

The tree should be displayed in a base that will hold water. It is important that this base be kept full of water during the entire time the tree is displayed inside.

It is not uncommon for the tree to use two quarts of water during the first 24 hours and one quart of water a day during the first week.

The best fire preventative for Christmas trees is water supplied for the tree. Additives are unnecessary and often do more harm than good.

Grant to station

SIUE has received a radio community service grant from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, according to John Regnell, chairman of the department of mass communications at the university.

The $20,000 grant will help support the operations of WSIE-FM (88.7), the campus radio station, during 1977.

The sum also includes a supplemental grant of $4,875 awarded the university during the period from July 1 to Sept. 30, 1976. The federal fiscal year is being changed from July-June to October-September.

Purpose of the grant is to assist public or community radio stations with general funding, staff salaries, programming and the purchasing of equipment.

A small portion of the funds each year goes toward equipment, while the rest is utilized for a news director, wages for students covering news and public affairs events, and other support for the station.

Student workers who cover news and public affairs at the station participate in the university's work-study program. "The students have had some basic instruction in our news writing or production courses, or they have participated in a training program," Regnell said.

Nameoki urges Levee District revive drainage ditch project

The new Metro-East Sanitary District, which replaced the former East Side Levee and Sanitary District, will be asked to resume the stagnant work of the former district — obtaining easements for a drainage ditch from the Parkway Estates area south along the Alton and Southern Railroad tracks to Horseshoe Lake.

Aid from the sanitary district will be sought as the best solution to a drainage problem in the Parkway Estates area, which is being threatened with flooding this spring, the result of a court order demanding that the township's highway commissioner, Albert Bell, reverse the direction of drainage in that subdivision. The township contends water flows to the east from the subdivision, while the court order demands the water flow to the west, toward the Wilshire Subdivision.

A report from the Illinois Department of Transportation, Division of Water Resources, was released last week, supporting the township's claim that water now flows to the east, under the Alton & Southern Railroad tracks.

A group of farmers residing east of the railroad tracks, filed suit to halt the township from making drainage improvements in Parkway Estates, which they contended would flood their farmlands. After a hearing on that suit, the court ordered the highway commissioner to refrain from drainage improvements and to return all culverts and roadways to their original elevations.

Township Supervisor Louis Whitsell criticized the court order, saying "the judge has ordered the water to flow uphill," and contending the removal of drainage improvements in that area would cause flooding of numerous homes during heavy rains in that subdivision.

The township appealed the decision, but the court order was upheld by the Appellate Court and later by the Illinois Supreme Court. One suggestion made by John K. Flowe, southern projects manager of the Illinois Division of Water Resources, was to put a dip in the roadway of Stratford Lane by Country Place, thus returning the roadway to what the court seemed to believe was its original level, and then let water drain across the road.

Representatives from Scott's Environmental Protection Division told the commission that a relaxation of sulfur dioxide emission standards for St. Louis area industries could have a negative impact on air quality in Illinois.

Scott's representatives told the Missouri commission that, in spite of diligent enforcement efforts against Illinois air

Retired Federal Employees elect

The National Association of Retired Federal Employees, Chapter 1007, met at the Granite City Army Installation Officer's Club for a regular monthly business meeting and annual Christmas luncheon and gift exchange.

There were 61 present, including guests Robert Delbar, who joined the chapter, Ann Graklanoff and Mrs. Willie Bell. The secretary read a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson, former residents, who now reside at Moody House Retirement Home in Galveston, Texas. Mr. Johnson was a former president of the chapter.

Mayme Vallow gave a sunshine committee report and Walter Franklin discussed the latest bills and legislation of interest to federal retirees.

The following officers were elected and will be installed at the January meeting: President-Larry Hengehold, 1st vice-president-Ed Erney, 2nd vice-president-Adrian Copeland, secretary-Helen Carrington and treasurer-Helen Martin.

After the business meeting Helen Carrington gave a Christmas reading "Nothing To Give", followed by the exchange of Christmas gifts.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 10.

Sunshine Class to sing carols

The Sunshine Class of Second Baptist Church completed plans to sing Christmas carols at 6 p.m., Monday, at homes of church members who are ill, during a meeting held Monday night with Mrs. Dorothy Barnes, 2454 Logan Ave.

Mrs. Rosemary Wilson offered the opening prayer and Mrs. Evelyn Smith gave the devotion taken from Luke relating to the Christmas story. Closing prayer was by Mrs. Smith.

During the social hour members sang carols and participated in a gift exchange. A holiday table centerpiece was awarded to Steffie Libar.

Others attending were Mildred Burnett, Gloria Burnett, Isabella Burnett, Ethel Cox, Margaret Dutton, Beulah Cox, Margaret Culppeper, Norma Rains, Frances Feldman, Frances Sims, Gladys Hudgens, Alma Burnett and Jimmy Barnes, grandson of the hostess.

Mrs. Bridick hosts area organ society

The Metro-East Organ Society was hosted Tuesday evening by Mrs. Jeanne Bridick in her home at 61 Lockhaven Drive.

Frank David, president, presided over a brief business meeting during which the minutes from the two previous meetings were read by the secretary, Jeanne Bridick.

Mrs. David gave a report on the concert held Dec. 10 at Johnson's Music Store by Kevin Courte of Alton. An announcement was made by Fred Johnson of the various Al-Hermann's organizing books available for study. Members voted to bring a technical question for discussion at the next meeting to aid each other.

Use of the quint stop was explained by Johnson during a discussion of footages and combinations of organs. It was announced that the year book is ready for the printer and books would be distributed at the next meeting.

A visitor, Mrs. Thelma Murday, was introduced and welcomed. After the conclusion of the business meeting, a tape cut prior to the meeting by Johnson of "Meditation from Thais" was played on Mrs. Bridick's organ. Due to the resignation of a newly-elected officer, the business meeting was postponed and Mrs. Zavanadaye Smolich was elected as treasurer for the coming year.

A musical game was enjoyed by the members with prizes donated by Mrs. Elisabeth Novasich awarded to Mrs. Smolich and Mr. and Mrs. Frank David.

Members each played a selection on the organ while cutting a tape for future use. The next meeting will be held Jan. 3 at 7:30 p.m. at Johnson's Music Store, 2320 Nameoki Road. Anyone interested in joining the society may contact Mrs. Smolich at 976-3074. Christmas cookies and refreshments were served.

Turkeys plentiful

By JANETTE MUELLER
Madison County
Extension Adviser,
Home Economics

The outlook for turkey supplies for the rest of the year is, in a word, plentiful.

New crop marketings and cold storage holdings are greater than a year ago and are expected to remain up throughout the rest of the year, according to the Agricultural Marketing Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

How much turkey do we eat in a year? In 1975, each American ate over 8½ pounds of turkey—whole turkey and turkey products.

Approximately half of the turkeys marketed were whole birds. The other half were cut-up or transformed into products totally changed from the whole form.

Turkey products on the market include such items as turkey ham, turkey pastrami, turkey bologna, turkey hot dogs, turkey cutlets, turkey sausage and turkey roasts.

What should a shopper look for when buying a turkey? Look for the USDA Grade A mark on the wrapper. It indicates that the bird is meaty, has a well developed layer of fat in the skin, and is practically free from pinfeathers; free from bruises, cuts, and tears on the breast and legs; and free from broken bones.

Most turkeys produced today are high quality and make Grade A. This is the top grade and the only one usually found in food stores.

What are the other grades for turkey? U.S. Grade B and C. These birds are as wholesome and nutritious as Grade A birds, but they may be poorly shaped, lack fleshing and fat cover or have skin bruises or tears, broken bones or missing parts.

They generally are used in processed items so that the appearance is quite different from a whole turkey, or they may be sold without the trademark in food stores.

What should a shopper look for when buying a turkey? Look for the USDA Grade A mark on the wrapper.

Indicates that the bird is meaty, has a well developed layer of fat in the skin, and is practically free from pinfeathers; free from bruises, cuts, and tears on the breast and legs; and free from broken bones.

Most turkeys produced today are high quality and make Grade A. This is the top grade and the only one usually found in food stores.

What are the other grades for turkey? U.S. Grade B and C. These birds are as wholesome and nutritious as Grade A birds, but they may be poorly shaped, lack fleshing and fat cover or have skin bruises or tears, broken bones or missing parts.

They generally are used in processed items so that the appearance is quite different from a whole turkey, or they may be sold without the trademark in food stores.

Tests to offer college credit

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been selected to serve as an area test center for the ACT Proficiency Examination Program (ACT-PEP), an examination-for-credit service being made available nationwide by The American College Testing Program (ACT).

The new ACT-PEP Program features 47 college-level proficiency tests based on course requirements and covering a broad range of subject areas, including arts and sciences, business, criminal justice, education, health and nursing.

The tests are designed for use by individuals interested in obtaining course credit at a college or university on the basis of test scores representing an appropriate level of knowledge in a specific subject area.

The ACT-PEP tests are offered on four national weekday test dates each year at area test centers located in educational institutions and agencies throughout the nation and at U.S. military bases worldwide. The test center at SIUE is supervised by Ruth E. Murray in Student Development Services. The center here is established to serve individuals within 100 miles.

The test center has descriptive materials about the tests and detailed information about the procedures to follow in registering to take one or more of the examinations. The schedule of national test dates, and corresponding registration periods, is as follows:

Feb. 3-4, registration period open until Jan. 14.
May 5-6, registration period open from Feb. 7 to April 15.
Aug. 4-5, registration period open from May 9 to July 15.

The inability of the administration, Congress and the nuclear commission to define a nuclear policy, including fuel reprocessing plans, make reassessment necessary," Gerstner said.

Kimberly K. Clark, 18, of 909 McCambridge Ave., Madison, pleaded guilty in court in Granite City Tuesday to disorderly conduct and theft, and innocent to charges of resisting arrest and battery in connection with an alleged disturbance at 2:10 p.m. Tuesday at the K-Mart store. Security officers alleged seeing a $9 tape recording placed in clothing while two other girls stood nearby, partly blocking the view.

One was arrested and two were reprimanded and released.

Patrolman J. R. Wilson alleged that a girl kicked him several times, tore off his tie and caused a disturbance in the store's security office. He also contended she attempted to strike him with a telephone receiver.

A girl was handcuffed and allegedly screamed as she was taken through the store to a squad car.

Miss Clark was fined a total of $60 on theft and conduct charges and was released after posting $15 bond on the other two charges.

Further delays on nuclear power plant

The commercial service date for the 950 megawatt Unit 1 at the Illinois Power Company nuclear generating station near Clinton has been moved from June 1, 1981 to Dec. 1, 1981, William C. Gerstner, executive vice president of the company, announced Tuesday in Decatur that the company also is studying the feasibility of deferring commercial service for Unit 2, of 950 megawatts, now scheduled for 1984, to 1987 or 1988.

Gerstner said a "particularly intense construction effort, with associated cost increase," would be required to maintain the June 1, 1981, date for Unit 1.

"The practice of federal regulatory authorities of requiring operation at greatly reduced power for any new unit for a period of months would mean that Unit 1 would not be of any great help in meeting our 1981 peak," Gerstner said.

"On the other hand, the Dec. 1 date will enable us to fulfill the required period of reduced load operation and still be able to step up capacity to meet the 1982 peak."

"For that reason, the company will not enter into a 'forced draft' construction policy on Unit 1."

The two-unit nuclear plant, already set back a year by regulatory delays, went under construction in October 1975. Uncertainty over federal energy policy and inaction by Congress and the administration in establishing nuclear fuel policy were given by Gerstner as reasons for re-examining the 1984 date for Unit 2 at the plant.

Robbery-murder hearing

A hearing to determine whether a 15-year-old Madison girl should be remanded to the Illinois Department of Corrections for her alleged part in a robbery attempt which turned into a murder was held Tuesday at the Madison County Courthouse at Edwardsville before Associate Judge Edward Ferguson.

Angelo Dwayne Baker, 17, of Grenzer Homes, Madison, has been sentenced to serve 50 to 150 years in prison for the shooting death of Frank J. Riddle, 59, and a concurrent 20 to 60 years for the attempted murder of Mr. Riddle's wife, Ann, in the couple's home at 1701 Market St., Madison, March 31.

During Baker's trial, testimony indicated Baker entered the home with two juvenile girls, and a scuffle developed between Mr. Riddle and Baker. Shots were fired, allegedly by Baker, during and after that struggle.

The court is attempting to determine any role Baker played in the murder of Madison in that case.

After hearing testimony from police, school officials and others on Tuesday, Judge Ferguson announced he would review the testimony and attempt to reach a decision in the case by tomorrow.

Tuesday's hearing was conducted like a trial, with Assistant State's Attorney Don Weber presenting evidence the state has collected in the case. An opportunity was given to a representative of the girl to present testimony on her character and school attendance, as well as to refute any allegations.

Five Madison policemen testified in the hearing, introducing various articles collected for Baker's trial. Items were not used because Baker pleaded guilty to the charges against him and no trial was required.

Pieces of evidence presented included blood-stained clothing the Riddle couple was wearing when found, an iron skillet which may have been used to strike Mrs. Riddle, photographs of the scene, a photo of the kitchen with Neida Haynes of Venice in the photo that police took during their investigation, photos of the Riddle's dog dead on the floor and videotapes made of Denise Bell by police during their inquiry.

Loans for lower 90% of graduates

A native of Carlinville who is retired and living in Florida, today announced a contribution of $100,000 to the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Foundation to establish a loan fund for students attending SIUE who graduated in the lower 90 per cent of their high school classes.

Joseph W. Hoppe of Pompano Beach, Fla., a graduate of Carlinville High School in the late 1920s, announced the donation in memory of his parents, Albert and Mary Hoppe of Carlinville.

Initially, the fund will be used for students who have attended Carlinville High School at least two years and graduated from the institution. After July 1, 1980, the fund will be broadened to include graduates of Macoupin County high schools and other SIUE students, with graduates of Carlinville High always getting first priority for the available funds.

Hoppe said he wants the loan fund to be used by deserving students who are unable to finance their higher education.

Only students in the lower 90 per cent of their graduating classes who have applied for loans, he said. He explained he feels students in the top 10 per cent can obtain scholarships.

Charles B. Schweitzer, executive director of the SIUE Foundation, said the donor has stipulated that the recipients of loans will be selected by a panel of four persons from Carlinville: the president of the Carlinville National Bank, or a person designated by him, who will serve as chairman; a local attorney appointed by the bank president; the principal of Carlinville High School; and the senior chemistry instructor of the high school.

The director of Student Work and Financial Assistance of SIUE will meet with the panel and will acquaint prospective students concerning the fund. Borrowers must repay the loans within 10 years, nine months after completion or termination of their studies. However, repayments may be deferred if the borrower enters advanced professional studies, or for three years of military service.

The borrower may repay the loan without paying interest within nine months of completion or termination of undergraduate studies, unless deferred. Interest rate on the loan will be three per cent.

FORCE REAR DOOR
The home of Edward Lemler Sr., 224 E. 26th St., was broken into between Monday and 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. The rear door was forced open to gain entry. A padlock was broken from a medicine cabinet in the kitchen and it is believed some drugs were taken. The victim is to report what is missing.

Hurt at Belleville
Jennifer Penrod, 20, of 2153a E. 24th St., was injured when her auto was forced from the roadway Route 15 near Belleville and overturned twice. She was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville. She was eastbound on Route 15 a mile west of South 9th St., when a car approached in the wrong lane, forcing her to swerve from the pavement, she told Illinois State Police.

'Tree of Lights' at 52 per cent of quota

When 1,000 bulbs are illuminated on the Salvation Army's "Tree of Lights," the 1976 goal of $25,000 to the annual Christmas appeal will have been reached.

Today, there are 524 lights glistering on the symbolic tree in Nameoki Village Shopping Center, representing total donations of $13,100. Richard "Dick" Kerch, Tree of Lights chairman, reported this morning.

Donations to the Christmas fund raising campaign are used to provide food and other items to area families in need during the holiday season.

Through Wednesday, more than 750 individual applications had been cleared by the Salvation Army office staff. The figure is expected to reach 900 before Friday's deadline for applications to be submitted is reached, Captain Michael Tompkins, Salvation Army commander, said.

Persons wishing to receive Christmas aid may apply in person at the new Salvation Army Center, 3007 E. 23rd St., Granite City.

Instead of distributing food baskets, families eligible to participate in the program receive checks to purchase their own food items at designated grocery stores.

The checks are scheduled to be mailed tomorrow (Dec. 17). However, families with children will pick up their checks when parents visit the Salvation Army Toy Shop on Wednesday, Dec. 22, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., Capt. Tompkins said.

With only eight days remaining until Christmas, Campaign Chairman Dick Kerch is reminding area residents to mail their donations to: Salvation Army Army Toy Shop on Wednesday, Dec. 22, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., Capt. Tompkins said.

FIRST POLICE CAR for the new Nameoki Volunteer Police Unit is delivered by the Nameoki Town Board of Auditors to representatives of the police department after a ceremony in the Nameoki Town Hall Monday night, during which the town board sold the car to the volunteers for $1. Police lights, radio and other equipment is now being installed, and the car should begin patrolling Nameoki Township Precincts 3, 5 and 11

Nameoki police unit to begin operations

Residents of Nameoki Township Precincts 3, 5 and 11 are likely to see a new police patrol car on their streets by this weekend as the new Nameoki Volunteer Police Unit begins operations for the first time.

The volunteer patrolmen are licensed as "supervisors of safety" under Madison County Sheriff John Maestas and the cars and officers will be dispatched by, and under the control of, the sheriff's department.

The nine volunteer officers, who have trained under the sheriff's department, have many of the powers of sheriff's deputies, including arrest powers until a uniformed deputy arrives at the scene.

The unit's new police car, which is to be completed on tomorrow or Saturday, was financed through a federal revenue sharing grant from Nameoki Township and the car was presented to Joseph Garcia Sr., Precinct 3 Democratic committeeman during Monday night's Nameoki Town Board of Auditors meeting.

Lights, radios, spotlights, identification decals and other equipment were being installed today to prepare the police car for operation. Nine deputies will start the department, most of whom have served as volunteers with the State Park Volunteer Police as part of their training.

Volunteers starting with the department are Joseph J. Garcia Jr., Ronald G. Jarrett, Steven L. Miller, Terrell E. Nichols, Raymond Penn, Melvin M. Poole, Leonard J. Priestley, Albert G. Pritchett and Steve Szadai. Nichols will serve as coordinator of the unit.

The new $5,412 police car was purchased by the township as part of a $9,600 federal revenue sharing grant to the new department. Other purchases from the fund have included uniforms, leather goods, radio equipment and lights and sirens for the police car.

The car was sold for $1 to Joseph Garcia Sr., representing the volunteer patrolmen, during Monday night's meeting and was taken this morning to Radiom in Troy for installation of the radio, lights and other police equipment.

The police plan to be self-supporting from donations offered by businessmen and residents as well as with profits

New Year's Eve party at Post 51

Amvets Post 51 is planning a New Year's Eve dance at the Post Home, 5100 Lakeview Drive, for members and guests, Leo Clements, Post 51 commander, announced last week. A fee of $3 per person will be charged for the event, which includes a buffet supper, noisemakers, hats and dancing to the music of the Fred "Skinny" Stroud band. Members are asked to make reservations in advance.

A Christmas party for the children of members is set at 2 p.m. Sunday, Clements said, and the final turkey shoot of the season is scheduled at noon, Saturday.

Reservations for the New Year's Eve party were priced incorrectly in a previous item.

BREAK INTO STATION
A 12 by 18 inch window on the north side of Bud's Sonic Service station, 1817 Madison Ave. was broken to gain entry between 10 p.m. Monday and 6 a.m. Tuesday.

Two large hammers were taken from a tool box and used to beat on the safe. The combination knob was knocked off the front of the safe, but it was not opened. Nothing was known stolen from the station, but an inventory is to be conducted.

Early college for Sawicki

Shortening the time required for a college education by admitting students who have completed only three years of high school has been termed successful at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Since 1972, a grant from the Carnegie Corporation has supported the early admission of up to 57 students each year and a study of their success in meeting the academic and social demands of college life.

Prof. King W. Broadrick-Allen, director of the program, this week said the experiment, the Extended Early Admission Program, has been accepted as a permanent option called the Early Admission Program. Up to 50 selected students a year will be accepted.

Among the 26 early admitted freshmen now finishing their first semester at UIUC is Robert Sawicki, 2665 Adams St., Granite City.

During the past four years, students who had omitted their senior year of high school earned an average grade point for their first two semesters of slightly more than 4.0 on a five-point scale, while freshmen as a whole earned slightly less than a 4.0 average, Broadrick-Allen said. "The students encountered few important problems in adjusting to college life and, with few exceptions, approved of early admission," he said.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., Dec. 16, 1976 Page 29

Seek sponsors for youth basketball

The Youth Basketball Association (YBA) program being conducted by the Tri-City Area YMCA again in 1976-77 is currently seeking sponsors.

Local businesses are being invited to underwrite sponsorship of individual teams, according to Donald Rains, program director of the Tri-City Area YMCA.

"YBA is a new kind of basketball program for boys and girls eight to 15 years of age," Rains said.

"Developed and sponsored jointly by the YMCA and National Basketball Association players, it emphasizes fair play, good sportsmanship and developing a sense of values," he said.

"Last season we had 12 YBA teams from the Tri-City Area YMCA.

"This season, we hope to increase that to 24, to do that, we'll need sponsorship help from local businesses."

Each YBA team consists of nine players, and every team member gets to play in every game, Rains said, adding that this is one of the unique features of YBA.

"One of the major objectives of YBA is to provide the opportunity to play league basketball for every kid from eight to 15 who wants to play," Rains said.

"Too often, kids who like basketball don't get the chance to play on the school team or in other leagues because they aren't 'good enough.' Well, we think any kid who wants to play basketball should be allowed to. So, one of the rules of YBA is that every kid on every team gets to play at least some part of every game."

Rains also said that youngsters having fun playing basketball is a goal "more important than winning-at-any-cost, which some youth sports leagues emphasize."

"YBA is not against competition, of course," he said. "But we think it should be kept in proper perspective."

"Overemphasis on competition puts too much pressure on boys and girls and, very often, heavy pressure comes from overzealous parents or coaches. It can turn kids sour on sports and they lose interest."

"The uniqueness of the YBA program has attracted the attention of athletes, educators and parents. Even the Wall Street Journal business newspaper ran a commendatory front page story on the YBA last February."

Some tickets left for Kiel

A St. Louis University spokesman has announced that only a limited supply of advance tickets remains for Monday's 6 p.m. cage clash between the Venice Red Devils and the Madison Trojans in St. Louis' Kiel Auditorium, 1400 Market St.

The tickets are available to students and the general public at both local high schools. Sales will continue through tomorrow at both schools.

Madison has sold all of its 200 adult tickets but still has student tickets available at a cost of 50 cents each in the school's cafeteria between 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. tomorrow.

Venice High Principal John Rush said adult and student tickets are available at his school and can be purchased at the school's main office between 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. tomorrow. Adult ticket prices are $1.50.

Fine purchasing tickets in advance can save, since general admission tickets at the door Monday evening will cost $2 for adults and $1 for children aged 12 and under.

The contest, rescheduled from Dec. 5, will precede a St. Louis University-Kansas University basketball game.

The tickets are good for both contests.

Miss Melanie Asadorian of Granite City, 1976 Miss Madison County Fair queen, will perform prior to both contests, singing the "Star-Spangled Banner."

Madison insurance cancelled

A letter from the National Grange Mutual Insurance Co. notifying the city of Madison of cancellation of liability, workmen's compensation and property insurance was referred to the legal department for action during a meeting Tuesday night.

The insurance was cancelled due to increased claims, particularly in the workmen's compensation area, the council was told.

Fifth Ward Alderman Donald Garrett brought up the issue of tavern closing hours and recent police arrests for staying open after hours.

Garrett said, "As I read the ordinance, we have given the tavern owners the right to sell liquor until the 3 a.m. closing; but to insist that everyone but the employees be out by 3:01 a.m. is a bit unfair."

"I believe they ought to have at least a 15 minute period after the closing time to empty their taverns. The police need to use some discretion before they start making arrests."

The question also arose about letting the taverns stay open an extra hour near the holidays. Third Ward Alderman Ronald Grayson said, "For 30 years we have been letting the taverns have an extra hour at holiday time illegally."

"I think we should amend the ordinance to legally allow the extra hour for four days, Dec. 24, 25, 31 and Jan. 1. This is in keeping with what we have always done, but we also need to make it legal to protect the police and the council."

After a discussion about the possibility of allowing a 15-minute grace period after closing, Mayor Sasyk said, "If the council passes such an ordinance, I will veto it."

The discussion also involved the operations of restaurants which also serve liquor and whether a special ordinance covering this area should be drawn up.

Alderman Ray Kozielek said, "I think we should meet and take a real close look at this whole situation as soon as possible."

The council voted to meet again Tuesday, Dec. 21, instead of Dec. 28.

National Steel Corporation announced Wednesday in Pittsburgh that it is deferring the start of construction of its proposed primary steelmaking facilities at its Midwest Steel Division, Portage, Ind.

The deferral will permit further review of the project, a spokesman said. National Steel owns Granite City Steel as well as such subsidiaries as Midwest, Weirton Steel, Great Lakes Steel, Hana Furnace, National Steel Service Centers, National Steel Products, National Aluminum, National Pipe and Tube, Bull Moose Tube, Transportation Products, Hanna Iron Ore and National Mines.

The Midwest Steel expansion announced in February 1975 involves expenditure of about $1 billion.

It was announced in July 1976 that National Steel would indefinitely defer the construction of a hot rolling mill, part of the proposed new integrated steelmaking complex. This change reduced the project to $700 million.

National is the third-largest steelmaker in this nation on the basis of shipments.

Views theft of truck

A short heavy-set man was seen stealing the pickup truck of George Kukarola, 2028 Cleveland Blvd., from Kukarola's driveway at 11 p.m. Wednesday.

A neighbor reported she saw the man run to the truck and thought he broke a vent window. Moments later, the truck, followed by a car, left south on Cleveland Boulevard at a high rate of speed.

The missing truck is a green 1976 Ford pickup with a white camper shell having green bubble-tint windows.

The patient lies perfectly still in the operating room conversing with the nurses and doctors around him. He tells them he can feel and hear the saving, but it is as if a board is being sawn while resting on his leg.

He is having his leg amputated while he is wide awake. His surgery is being done with only a local anesthetic to deaden sensations in his skin. But he has undergone "hypnotic anesthesia."

John Chaves, chairman of the SIUE School of Dental Medicine department of community dentistry and human behavior, has used this and other examples of hypnosis in his article, "Hypnotic Procedures and Surgery: A Critical Analysis with Applications to 'Acupuncture Analgesia'."

Chaves and the co-author of the article, Theodore X. Barber, of Medfield State Hospital, received the 1976 Milton H. Erickson Award of Scientific Excellence for writing on hypnosis from the American Society of Clinical Hypnosis.

Chaves explained that most pain in surgery is caused by the initial incision through the skin; many internal organs are insensitive to cutting. So, if the skin is numbed by local anesthetics, much surgical pain is alleviated, he added.

He said that with preoperative preparation, mild anesthetics and hypnosis, many patients can undergo surgery without heavy dosages of drugs. He commented that removing the anxiety of surgery also removes much of the pain.

For example, a woman who is about to have a thyroidectomy goes through a training session specifically related to that type of surgery.

Much pain during and after surgery is due to the mystery surrounding the procedures, Chaves said; this causes patients to be anxious and thus experience more pain. He feels that if the mystery is removed, many people can undergo surgery with only mild or local anesthetics.

He explained there are few people who can undergo surgery with only hypnosis, an altered state of consciousness; yet, a careful selection process can help identify some patients who would be good candidates for hypnosis.

"It is necessary to select patients carefully for surgery with hypnosis. At least one important difference is that those who are selected are more responsive to suggestions or more 'hypnotizable,'" Chaves said.

Such patients often have a close relationship with the surgeon or anesthesiologist and have positive attitudes toward the use of hypnotic procedures in controlling pain.

Cycles of interest in the use of hypnosis to control pain have risen from time to time, Chaves said. "When people began using chemical anesthetics, the use of hypnosis declined. Now, people are interested because they are looking for better ways of controlling pain without chemicals."

"It is, of course, good for people with allergies or who cannot tolerate chemical anesthetics. Results of hypnosis used for surgery are good both during and afterwards. Hypnosis requires that less anesthesia is used and, therefore, patients are more relaxed."

Chaves said hypnosis was used often for major surgeries in the late 1700s and early 1800s before the improvement of modern anesthetics.

HYPNOSIS EASES STRESS. John Chaves (standing) chairman of the department of community dentistry and human behavior at the SIUE School of Dental Medicine, watches while a dental clinic patient undergoes hypnosis. Chaves explained that hypnosis is an important surgical technique for this patient, James Leary, because the sound and feel of the dental drill cause him to be anxious during treatment. Stage Three dental student Doug White of McLeansboro gives Leary hypnotic suggestions to prepare him for the dental procedure. Leary, an advisor in the Veterans Upward Bound program, enjoys skiing, so — while hypnotized — he imagines the vibrations caused by the drill are the vibrations he feels while traveling down a snowy ski slope.

Solar energy to dry local grain

By RON CORNWELL
County Agricultural Advisor
Since the energy crisis started two years ago, there has been increasing interest in the use of solar energy in agriculture. One use of solar energy on the farm is to dry grain.

To provide information on solar grain drying, the University of Illinois Extension Service is holding a solar grain drying conference for Illinois farmers on Jan. 11 and 12.

The program will be held at the Ramada Inn Convention Center in Champaign. It will cover agriculture programs in solar energy, solar drying research in progress, solar energy collectors, solar collectors for grain drying and potential solar applications.

Dan Ponder, a cash grain farmer from Tuscola, Ill., Randy Sims, a farm manager from Liberty, and Darrell Lasswell, a grain and swine producer from Washburn, will share their experience on solar grain drying.

Several Madison County farmers have shown interest in the use of solar energy in grain drying.

The Madison County farmer operates a very complex business operation. Like other business ventures, adequate records of the operation are essential to success.

Farming is a competitive business. To remain efficient, the farmer must know which practices are economically sound on his farm.

There are several farm record services available to Madison County farmers. The University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service has available the Illinois Farm Record Book designed to assist the farmer in distinguishing between profitable and unprofitable farming operations. The record book can serve three purposes. It provides for the recording of information needed to complete an income tax return, a farm income summary and a complete farm business analysis.

The Illinois Farm Record Book is available from the Extension office in Edwardsville at a cost of $1 and the Depreciation Schedule is available for 25 cents.

Custom spray school is scheduled for Jan. 5 and 6 at the Illini Union Building on the University of Illinois campus. The school provides an opportunity for custom sprayers in Illinois to obtain the latest chemical recommendations for insect and disease control in field crops for 1977. The program speakers include a U. of I. entomologist, plant pathologist and agronomist.

Veterans' questions answered

Many questions are received each day by counselors of the Veterans Administration. Some of those, with the answers, are listed here. Full information on any of the subjects may be obtained at any VA office.

Q— I have signed up for a correspondence course that is VA approved but I'm having second thoughts about the course. If I cancel am I liable for the contract?

A— A contract for enrollment must be affirmed by the student more than 10 days after the contract was signed. If more than 10 days has expired and you have signed the affirmation agreement, you can be charged for a portion of the course.

Q— As a veteran of World War II with a recently established service-connected disability, am I eligible for service-disabled insurance?

A— Eligibility requires separation from service after April 24, 1961, and application for insurance within one year from date of notice granting service-connected disability. Applicants must be in good health except for service-connected disabilities.

Q— I am a veteran with a service-connected disability and know that I can receive treatment at a VA hospital. Should I drop my private hospitalization plan?

A— This is a matter only you can decide as to the advantages and disadvantages of having VA hospitalization and private hospitalization coverage.

Q— A veteran in receipt of pension dies on the last day of the month. Is his widow entitled to receive and negotiate the check received on the first of the following month?

A— No. The check should be returned. In order to establish entitlement, the veteran must be alive for the complete month. The widow may be entitled to death benefits and any accrued amount due a deceased beneficiary.

Q— How is educational entitlement charged for flight training?

A— One month of entitlement is charged for each $270 paid to the veteran.

Q— I have a $10,000 National Life Insurance policy. It is a term contract and the premium escalates every five years. The cost is becoming prohibitive and I would like to know if there are any options available to me?

A— You may convert your term policy to a permanent contract. In addition to a stabilized premium, your policy will accrue a cash value.

Q— Are veterans with a service-connected disability requiring a prosthetic device entitled to a VA clothing allowance?

A— Yes. The annual $190 allowance is paid Sept. 1.

Q— Both my mother and father were veterans and both are deceased. I am drawing non-service-connected death pension from my father. Can I draw pension benefits from my mother also?

A— If your mother had sufficient qualifying service, you are eligible to draw pension benefits from both simultaneously.

Q— If a veteran has been receiving VA outpatient care for a service-connected disability, will the report of treatment be sent to the rating board for reevaluation without action by the veteran?

A— Only if there has been a significant change in his physical condition in the opinion of the physician. Otherwise, the veteran or his representative must request records of treatment be furnished the rating board.

Q— My husband was killed in Vietnam, but his remains were not recovered. Is there any kind of marker available to be placed in the national cemetery located near his place of birth?

A— A memorial marker or headstone may be furnished to the next of kin to commemorate any member of the armed forces who died in the service and whose remains were not recovered or who was buried at

Confidence about 1977

Comments on the 1977 Illinois outlook:

Delmar D. Walker, president, Funk Seeds International, Bloomington:

In general, Illinois agriculture fared well in 1976. Both corn and soybeans, the two most widely grown crops, had good yields compared to previous years and compared to the remainder of the corn belt.

There were areas of localized drought but the state as a whole lived up to its reputation as the bellweather of American agriculture.

Prices received by farmers were not as high as in 1975, while prices paid by farmers for land and equipment continued to increase in 1976. These factors together resulted in a relatively small reduction in income for Illinois farmers in 1976.

In 1977, the prospects for agricultural prices are close to 1976 levels (based on futures markets). The Russians are committed to take large amounts of our grains, which will be a stabilizing factor.

The unknown is always the weather but in general Illinois fares as well or better than other Midwestern states in this regard.

It's my feeling that American agriculture will continue in 1977 to play a major role in our national economy and Illinois farmers will continue to prosper.

Harris Rowe, chairman of the board, Central National Life Insurance Co., Jacksonville: "The life insurance industry expects another excellent year for sales in 1977. The pension reform law continues to provide an impetus for the continued sale of annuities and other plans that will qualify under ERISA."

The public continues to be "savvy" and life companies have the sales organizations to get their products sold.

Life companies, like everyone else, continue to be plagued by increased costs. But we are tied to guaranteed rates for the duration of the policy, which makes it imperative that we exercise maximum control of our overhead.

John L. Heath, president, L. S. Heath & Sons, Inc., Robinson:

"Consumers of confectionery products will soon be noticing increases in the prices for many of their favorite candy bars and packaged candy.

Because of current escalating prices of cocoa beans, now selling for record highs on the world's cocoa market, many confectionery manufacturers, especially those making products with real milk chocolate coatings, are being forced to raise their prices accordingly."

As a result, in 1977 consumers can expect a switch from 15 cent candy bars to 20 cent bars. Most manufacturers anticipate a successful year in 1977.

George A. Lorenzen, president, Dohm Transfer Co., Rock Island:

"Business prospects for the coming year for my company and the trucking industry are reasonably good."

The election of Jimmy Carter will probably aid business for this period of time. The government will now start spending allocated funds that have been withheld.

This should be a good stimulus to the economy. It is almost axiomatic that when the trucking business is good, business in general is good.

All in all, I believe 1977 will be better than 1976. Do not take the statement of President Carter as one of gladness. It is only for the short period of time of a year that I hold out "good" business.

Kenneth A. Olson, president, General Radiator Division, Chromalloy American Corp., Mt. Vernon:

We see the level of business for 1977 being approximately the same as the level reached in the second half of 1976. This will, in fact, be an increase overall for 1977 both in sales and in profits.

We expect the construction equipment business, which we serve, to show increased volume beginning in mid-1977.

On highway equipment, sales are strong and we expect them to continue strong throughout 1977. We are sensing a position of cautious optimism among most of the customers and vendors with whom we do business.

Germania Federal has the perfect retirement plan for people who are self-employed or not covered by an employer's plan. A plan that's so simple you can set it up yourself. And lets you deduct your contributions to the plan - up to $1,500 per year - from your taxable income.

It's called an Individual Retirement Account, and you can open one at any Germania Federal office. Eligibility has recently been reviewed and broadened to include members of the Armed Forces Reserves, National Guard, and volunteer fire departments.

While your money is in a Germania Federal Retirement Account, it earns interest, of course. Taxes on this interest are also deferred until retirement time, which is a further saving. Come let one of our people show you how easy it all is.

Automatic electoral vote tally would be an improvement

The Electoral College's quadrennial deliberations Monday already have spurred talk of making the 48th such "college" session the last.

While many will seek to substitute direct popular election of the President, perhaps a better "reform" would be to make the casting of electoral votes automatic based on a state's popular vote, rather than having actual electors participate.

Those who convened this week in the 50 states and the District of Columbia cast 297 votes for President-elect Jimmy Carter, Democrat, 240 for outgoing President Gerald Ford, Republican, and one for Ronald Reagan, who lost the GOP nomination to Mr. Ford. The President was due to receive 241, but an elector from the state of Washington voted instead for Reagan; others also had the opportunity to switch but did not do so.

Although the present system allows an individual to win with a majority of the 538 electoral votes while trailing in the popular vote, it does serve to emphasize the importance of sentiment in individual states. Except for Maine, each state chooses electors on a winner-take-all basis. In some states, the electors' names appear on the ballot; in others, including Illinois, they are represented by the name of the Presidential candidate.

There is a considerable body of opinion that dividing the competition into separate state races serves to widen the campaign to a larger portion of the nation. Also, it probably discourages some of the volume of vote fraud that might occur if every U.S. ballot was tallied into a single total for each aspirant.

Along with the electoral device which formalized Mr. Carter's victory, it was determined this week that he received 40,827,292 votes to Pres. Ford's 39,146,157. In Illinois, Mr. Ford captured the 26 electoral votes by totaling 2,364,269 to Mr. Carter's 2,271,295.

Problems of blanket draft evasion pardon plan multiply

Press-Record Washington Bureau — In August, Jimmy Carter aroused hostile reactions in an American Legion audience when he announced he would grant a blanket pardon to Vietnam draft resisters if he became President.

He took pains to point out what he saw as a difference between pardon and amnesty — the former implying forgiveness for having done wrong, the latter implying that no wrong had been done.

It now develops that Mr. Carter may have to qualify the term "blanket" as well.

He has told reporters that he had not been aware during the campaign that there were different categories of young men who violated the Selective Service laws. He acknowledged this has raised problems in drafting a proclamation of pardon that would be one of his first official acts.

Mr. Carter has encountered the difficulty that has always surrounded the proposals to clear the books of this aspect of the Vietnam war. Some young men failed to obey the draft laws out of ignorance, others out of fear, others out of a desire to protest, others from a conviction of conscience.

There are varying degrees of guilt or responsibility among their cases. An all-inclusive pardon could create injustice by lumping them all together.

That's the problem Mr. Carter created for himself with his campaign promise.

He told the Legionnaires that his aim was to end the damage and divisiveness that lingers from the Vietnam war. But he may create more of the same with the way his pardon order is applied.

We hope that those advisors preparing the language for the pardons will not let the emphasis on speed distort their judgment.

The military draft is currently in mothballs, but it could be made operational again in a national emergency. The contemplated pardons will set a precedent that could upset enforcement machinery in the event of a new draft.

Extreme care must be used in shaping the form the pardons will take to avoid the appearance of giving approval to flagrant violations of federal law.

We can have compassion for the more than 8,000 individuals convicted of breaking draft laws and for the almost 3 million who are fugitives.

But we must also respect the thousands upon thousands more who served their country with honor.

Pure air progress

(U.S. Environmental Protection Agency)
Environmental Administrator Russell E. Train has just released data showing that America has made meaningful progress in cleaning up its air.

Citing figures from a new EPA study, "National Air Quality and Emissions Trends Report, 1975," Train pointed out some significant signs of progress:

—From 1970 to 1975, sulfur dioxide levels dropped 30 per cent in urban areas.

—Eighty per cent of the local air where carbon monoxide is measured across the nation showed improvement in levels of this auto-related pollutant, with the progress rate more pronounced in California where emission standards are more stringent than federal requirements.

These figures are measurements of reduction in ambient (outside) air levels. Train asserted that air pollution control progress can also be gauged by measuring the amounts of contaminants emitted into the air at the pollution source (such as a factory smokestack).

These direct emission measurements show that from 1970 through 1975:

—Particulate emissions from all pollution sources were reduced 35 per cent.

—Sulfur dioxide emissions were reduced four per cent.

—Nitrogen dioxide emissions increased seven per cent.

—Hydrocarbon (main component of smog) emissions were reduced nine per cent.

—Carbon monoxide emissions were down 15 per cent.

To meet these standards, the act required each state to set specific emission regulations restricting the amount of pollutants which stationary pollution sources—such as factories and power plants—in urban areas could release into the atmosphere.

EPA also set national emission standards for automobiles, CO and NO<sub>2</sub> pollution from highway vehicles. These mobile source standards must be met by the manufacturers.

Following is a brief summary of the report's findings on national progress in cleaning up all the major pollutants in 1975:

PARTICULATES: Levels of this pollutant—which can cause breathing problems, respiratory illness and even death—in the ambient air have been reduced by about four per cent a year since 1971.

To begin with, Missouri is a prime outdoor state and its citizens know it. Part rolling farmland and part rugged Ozarks, it offers the outdoorsman a range of options.

Missouri hunters take 40,000 deer this year, and nearly 8,000 wild turkeys. Fishing ranges from flyfishing for smallmouth bass and trout to the Ozark tradition of spearing sunfish in the spring.

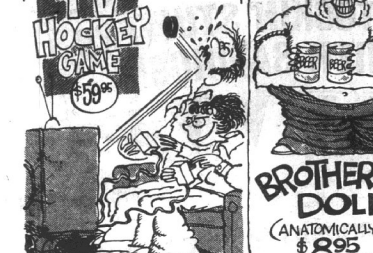

For the river canoeist, there are some spring-fed treasures as the Current, Eleven Point, Jack's Fork, Meramec, Muzzah, Courtois and many others.

The management of such resources was assured by a 1936 constitutional amendment that set up a bipartisan conservation commission and a department staffed with trained professionals.

A few other state conservation agencies have been with the result that 33 per cent fewer people are exposed to levels violating health standards.

The greatest improvement in reducing this pollutant has taken place in the Northeast and Great Lakes states.

Despite this progress, particulates remain a problem, with 30 per cent of the nation's population still living in areas exceeding standards.

Some states may be required to adopt new measures to solve their ambient particulate problems.

Particulate emissions were reduced mainly by (1) installation of control equipment on industrial processes, (2) less coal-burning by factories, (3) installation of control equipment by coal-burning utilities and (4) less burning of solid waste.

Reductions also resulted from economic recessions that have led to less industrial activity, particularly in 1974-75.

SULFUR DIOXIDE: Ambient levels of SO<sub>2</sub> (which can irritate the upper respiratory tract and cause lung damage) have decreased 30 per cent in the nation's urban areas, most of the improvement taking place in 1970-73.

Since 1970, levels have been fairly constant; however, nationally, most urban areas have gained so much autonomy that they are now meeting SO<sub>2</sub> standards.

There have been slight increases in some areas due to changes in fuel use patterns.

A number of major sources of this pollutant exist in rural locations. These non-urban sources, such as smelters, pose the greatest threat to the maintenance of SO<sub>2</sub> standards. This problem is being intensified by the move of factories from urban to rural areas.

Overall, national SO<sub>2</sub> emissions have declined only slightly.

CARBON MONOXIDE: Ambient levels of CO (primarily an automotive pollutant which can affect the heart and brain by reducing the amount of oxygen reaching human tissues) have decreased at about five per cent a year.

CO emissions have decreased, due mostly to federal emission standards on automobiles.

PHOTOCHEMICAL OXIDANTS: There is not enough historical data to determine national trends for oxidants at this time. There are some clues to progress, however.

In the Los Angeles area, which has one of the worst smog problems in the nation, there has been a considerable reduction in the number of days of which health-protective oxidant levels were exceeded. In the mid-1960s, people in LA were exposed to oxidant violations on an average of 178 days a year; by the mid-70s, this exposure was down to an annual average of 105 days.

Oxidants, which can seriously irritate eyes, mucous membranes and the respiratory system, are not emitted directly into the atmosphere but are produced by a complex series of chemical reactions initiated when hydrocarbons and NO<sub>2</sub> emissions from autos and other sources are exposed to sunlight.

NITROGEN DIOXIDE: Not enough information is yet

HYDROCARBONS: EPA sets emission standards for hydrocarbons because they are a prime ingredient in the formation of photochemical oxidants.

Hydrocarbon emissions have remained essentially constant since 1972, because federal standards that went into effect with 1972 cars have tended to balance the increase in total miles traveled.

The health effects of NO<sub>x</sub> range from bronchitis and pneumonia at low levels to death at high concentrations.

Although federal standards have significantly reduced hydrocarbon vehicle emissions, these reductions have been partially offset by increases in industrial emissions and in the use of solvents, and losses of gasoline and other vapors from evaporation at gas stations.

These increases reflect a growing consumption of these products of the report are available free from the Missouri and Data Analysis Division, Office of Air Quality Planning and Standards, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Research Triangle Park, North Carolina 27711.

There was some opposition to the proposed amendment, largely because the funds would be earmarked and there was no control over the program. But of the major newspapers that opposed the amendment, none was very fierce about it and even on those papers, the outdoor editors supported the proposal.

Still, a mandate was clearly expressed, and beginning next July the Missouri Department of Conservation will be one of the best-endowed conservation agencies in the world.

"CATCH!"

Views candidate as able, energetic

To the Editor:

It is welcome news to read in the Press-Record Dec. 9 that young Dan Partney will seek the office of mayor of Granite City.

Here is a young, energetic, intelligent, well-liked, warm personality with a business and academic background, as well as a combat veteran with numerous decorations for bravery in the Vietnam War.

Having known him for quite a few years, I heartily endorse him, as should all veterans, their families and, especially, all the citizens of Granite City, to be our next mayor.

We need a young man with vision and his caliber and expertise to lead us to be a more aggressive city. Dan is the man to do it, with the help of us all.

Any man who fought as hard and courageously as he did in the Vietnam War, putting his life on the line, deserves to lead this city in the battle for future developments and progress.

He will fight just as hard and courageously, as our next mayor, if we supply him with the "ammunition" to win.

Latin is useful in all walks of life

To the Editor:

The Board of Education of Granite City should be congratulated for having had the foresight to retain Latin in the high school. But I understand there is a move afoot to discontinue it.

All across the country, parents and serious students are growing increasingly suspicious of easy-learn-it curricula in both schools and colleges.

Latin is up 17 per cent in the latter because shortlisted secondary school administrators and boards dropped it. Good students, feeling they were shortchanged, are signing up.

Here at SIUE, the departments of English and of modern foreign languages this year presented three courses, Latin, Greek and The Influence of the Classics, because of demand.

Knowledgeable teachers of English and modern foreign languages in universities can usually pick out those who have Latin, for these students know what a sentence is and understand grammatical structure. And their English vocabulary is usually larger because 60 per cent of English words are ultimately derived from Latin.

May I urge Granite City schools to retain Latin, since the coming trend is a return to "hard-core" disciplines. Latin, modern foreign languages, history and English literature are not only for the college-bound.

Future stenographers or plumbers should be encouraged to store in their minds and hearts the common cultural heritage of America, which would unify us all again.

This would prevent the creating of an elite who attend prestigious private schools where, I assure you, Latin will never be dropped. We owe the best to every citizen.

Peoria Journal Star

They may have broken what's left of the shattered heart of "Senator Sam" at Springfield.

Sixty-two-year-old Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, listened via a special long-distance hookup from the state Senate to his home, where he's recovering from a pre-election heart attack, as his colleagues led his six-year dream down the drain.

Sam has fought for years to win passage of legislation to provide a Civic Center complex for his metropolitan area and for his hometown of Edwardsville.

Following the long and difficult path through the legislature and the courts, a lot of folks climbed aboard Sen. Sam's bill, recognizing its importance and cutting themselves in for a slice of the proposed state aid for the downtown area.

Sam may have protested mildly. But he also realized that there is strength in numbers — and numbers is what the General Assembly is all about.

It takes 30 votes in the Senate and 89 in the House to pass a bill.

Sam let aboard enough House members to his dream. With all the Peorias, Springfield, Aurora, Danville, Decatur, Rockford and Decatur riding along, it was just a matter of time before the bill would be passed.

Sam was carried the burden of whether and dealing and vote-trading to make state aid for civic centers possible in the metropolitan area.

Today, Peoria, Rockford, Springfield, Aurora, Danville and Decatur have the laws setting up the Civic Center.

A couple of years ago, however, a freshman lawmaker from East St. Louis introduced a rival bill to locate the Metro East Civic Center there.

county — doesn't.

Sam's bill got caught in heavy flak Dec. 2 and went down.

And Sam, a sick man, was hospitalized to do any more than listen as his major legislative goal, his "biggie," died.

If the thought crossed his mind that there are a lot of ingrates around, he was right. Edwardsville, probably in conjunction with the Southern Illinois University campus there, and not in the Dresden-like setting of East St. Louis.

There weren't enough votes in the Senate to override the governor's veto.

And there weren't enough votes to accept it, either.

That angered Sen. Sam, so, on the last day of the session, through the legislative labyrinth, Vadalabene put his bill in for Madison County only.

And he won, beating a attempt to amend it. He got his bill — and everybody else's — to the governor's desk.

The Peoria-Rockford-Springfield-Aurora-Decatur-Danville bill was signed. But Sam's bill was returned to the legislature under an amendment veto by Gov. Walker.

The suggested change was to make the Madison County authority a Metro-East project area.

There weren't enough votes in the Senate to override the governor's veto.

And there weren't enough votes to accept it, either.

Lots of senators voted lots of ways for lots of reasons, which they indicated by debate. They really didn't understand.

Others just didn't want to get involved in the scrap between the two areas.

In the end, there weren't enough votes to do anything and Sam's bill died.

It apparently didn't matter that Good Old Sam had voted through the years for everybody else's pet project.

It had been a long, hard week and everybody wanted to get home.

Or maybe they just forgot Sam Vadalabene had one coming. He'd earned it.

He'd paid the dues in a club that's supposed to remember and respect that.

Sam sounded pretty low on the phone. He sounded like his heart had just taken another cruel blow.

It sounded like he might be crying.

Sam said he's getting better and he'll be back after the first of the year. And he's going to put his bill in again and start all over.

We hope he does. And we hope he makes it. He deserves it.

Hospitals in area must seek expansion approval from Health Systems Agency

The Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board has authorized the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency to review any plans for major expansions of health care services in the Illinois counties of St. Clair, Madison, Monroe and Clinton. The authorization is effective immediately.

The Facilities Planning Board approved the local agency's application for participation in the Illinois Certificate of Need Program at its November meeting.

The review program is an effort to control the growth of health care costs by preventing unnecessary duplication of facilities and services. Under the program, health care institutions in these counties will submit plans involving major capital expenditures to the state agency which, in turn, will forward the plans to the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency.

The HSA will determine whether the proposed project is needed and appropriate on the basis of overall area plans.

Under Illinois Certificate of Need legislation, a negative recommendation, if upheld through the appeals process, would subject the project sponsor to a fine and possibly other actions should it proceed with the project.

The Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency was designated last April by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare as the official health planning and resource development agency for the St. Louis metropolitan area.

In addition to the Illinois counties, the Health Systems Agency serves the City of St. Louis and the counties of St. Louis, Jefferson, Franklin, and St. Charles in Missouri.

Start amaryllis now for January bloom

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
Area Advisor in Ornamental Horticulture

While most of us are preparing for the holiday season, we might look ahead also and plan for colorful indoor flowers during January and February.

Amaryllis bulbs planted now will give us a spectacular show during the darkest part of the winter. Amaryllis bulbs should be dormant when we buy them, unless we buy flowering plants. These we may have saved from last year also should have had a rest period of about two months. These bulbs should now be potted and watered to renew growth.

Culture of amaryllis is fairly simple. Always select the largest bulbs.

Use a container at least two inches wider than the diameter of the bulb. This allows one inch of soil around the side of the bulb.

Most flowering size bulbs require a pot five to six inches in diameter.

When planting the bulb, remove any dead or broken plants for major capital expansions to agency review on a voluntary basis. Since the voluntary program was initiated on Sept. 1, more than 20 applications have been received. Missouri has not yet passed a certificate of need law comparable to that of Illinois. The National Health Planning and Resource Development Act of 1974 requires that all states enact such legislation by 1979. A bill will be reintroduced in the Missouri legislature in its 1977 session.

Births increase in Quad-Cities

Births in the Quad-City area increased to 90 during November from a total of 83 in the same month in 1975, while the number of deaths and deaths (stillbirths) were the same as those of a year ago, according to a vital statistics report released by City Clerk Robert Stevens.

The report showed a total of 22 deaths last month, the same as in November 1975, and only one fetal occurred, also the same number as a year ago. The November statistics brought to 878 the total number of births during the 11 months of this year, compared to 891 during the same period last year. There were ten fetal deaths during the 11-month period, the same as of a year ago, while deaths totaled 49, up from the 49 reported during the same 11 months in 1975.

After growth begins, frequent watering is necessary. Apply a liquid house-plant fertilizer about every three weeks.

When the plants are in bloom, they should be moved out of direct rays of the sun to help increase the life of the flowers. Placing the plants in a cool location (55 to 60 degrees) at night also helps increase flower life.

After flowering is completed, cut off the flower stems and move plants back into a sunny window until spring.

If you want the bulbs to flower again next winter, they must continue to grow well during the spring and summer.

After danger of frost is past the plants may be moved outdoors to a protected spot. Repotting generally is necessary only about every three years.

Purpose of the fund is to provide financial assistance to students attending SIUE, and it will be used for short-term loans. Funds will be administered by the SIUE Foundation office through the Student Work and Financial Assistance office.

Paul S. Czerwinski, president of the SIUE Alumni Association and a member of the board of governors of the SIUE Foundation, has contributed $100 to the fund.

Marriages, deaths rise in November

A total of 270 births in Madison County during November was an increase of five over the 265 births occurring in the same month a year ago, according to a vital statistics report by County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

The report showed a total of 150 deaths last month, up ten from 140 in November 1975, and 231 marriages, up nine from 222 a year ago.

Births included 126 boys and 144 girls, compared to 129 boys and 136 girls born in November 1975. Births last month included three sets of twins, compared to none a year ago.

Percy believes tax cut may be needed

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record

Washington Bureau
Sen. Charles H. Percy's prescription for a lagging economy is an across-the-board tax cut if the Christmas season does not bring a rebound.

Talking with reporters, the Illinois Republican recommended a wait-and-see attitude until January when this quarter's economic indicators are due.

If they continue on the downside, then he would propose "a substantial tax cut, to stimulate the economy."

Percy set a maximum tax cut to $25 billion on 1977 income, of which $15 billion would be for individuals and $10 billion for business. He said the minimum, on a similar ratio, should not be less than $15 billion.

"Christmas is a good time to know how people feel (about spending)," Percy said.

"If they are not confident at Christmas, they are not confident at any time."

The senator said he would not increase public works projects because that would be inflationary, but he would increase public service jobs to 500,000, chiefly to aid young blacks who are out of work. Percy believes the federal government compared to the private sector is "spending too much money" and the "government is not smart enough to spend that much money."

To determine why big steel raised its prices, Percy said, he called the top men at U.S. Steel and National Steel and heard some "economics" justifications.

He said he "countered" with a reminder that American steelmakers can expect increased competition from abroad, particularly from Japan, which supplies 60 percent of America's steel imports already.

Percy said General Motors and Chrysler Corporation are "negotiating with Japan on long-term (steel) contracts."

"I pointed out to the steel companies that when they increase prices they risk losing markets," he said.

Percy said also that he told the steelmen he hoped they would rescind the increase before the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) meets to consider its own oil price increase.

He alleged that the steel hike would cause OPEC an "excuse" to raise its prices.

As a result of talking to spokesmen for 11 of the 13 OPEC nations, Percy perceives "a mood of moderation."

"I think they are concerned about the adverse effect an increase will have (on the developing nations)."

About all that President-elect Jimmy Carter can do, in Percy's opinion, is to "express disapproval."

The senator hopes little more will be heard of Carter's campaign talk of "economic war" against OPEC nations if they increase oil prices.

Former resident receives Brown Shoe Co. awards

Gaylord Grindstaff, formerly of Granite City and now superintendent of the Charleston, Mo., supply plant of the Brown Shoe Co., has been awarded four safety trophies won by the workers of his plant from March 1975 through March 1976. The presentation to Grindstaff's plant was a clean sweep of all such awards made by the shoe company.

The plant had no injuries during the one-year period during which more than 60 plants handled several hundred thousand square feet of leather per day "with plenty of chances for accidents to happen," according to Grindstaff.

Grindstaff said the work at the plant consists of unloading and loading trucks, stacking large pallets of leather rolls three levels in height, and standing on and operating hoists while selecting rolls to be shipped to Brown Shoe Company's production plants.

The awards were presented in St. Louis by Gene Jordan, Brown Shoe Company's vice-president for labor relations during a "manufacturers' meeting."

How to read your utility meters

Your meter will have four or five dials. This example shows a five-dial electric meter. Read the dials from left to right. When the arrow is between two numbers, read the lower of the two.

On the first dial above, the arrow is between six and seven. The reading is 6.

Now move to the next dial to the right. (The numbers on this dial run counter-clockwise; that's the way the meter is geared.) The arrow here is between 3 and 4. The reading is 3.

On the third dial above, the arrow is between 5 and 6. The reading is 5.

The fourth dial also runs counter-clockwise. Here the arrow is past 9 and almost to 0. The reading is 9.

On the fifth dial, the arrow is between 3 and 4, so the reading is 3.

Your meter reading from left to right on the five dials is 63593. Make a note of the reading. When you read your meter again in, say, a month, it may read 64313, or 720 numbers more. That means you've used 720 kilowatt hours of electricity since you first read the meter.

Your gas meter reads the same but has only four dials and measures therms of gas. If your first reading is 6359 and your next reading is 6431, you've used 72 therms of gas since your first reading.

Reading your own meter from time to time enables you to check how much energy you're using and helps your family realize how wasteful habits can consume energy needlessly.

Hope Lutheran to present Living Nativity Dec. 19

Hope Lutheran Church, 3715 Wabash Ave., has announced its schedule of services and activities during the holiday season.

Regular worship services are held every Sunday at 8 and 10:30 a.m.

A family potluck will be served Dec. 19 at 5 p.m. Entertainment will be furnished by the Bellview-Morris Singers and a visit from Santa's helper. The Women's League will be in charge of a candlelight devotion that evening in the church sanctuary.

The Living Nativity will be presented at 5, 7 and 8 p.m. on Dec. 19. The public is welcome to attend. The youth will meet at the church on Dec. 22 at 6:30 for an evening of Christmas caroling.

The traditional children's Christmas Eve service will be at 7 p.m. The annual Festival of the Nativity will begin at 11:30 p.m., the liturgy being chanted by Rev. David Fielding and the Adult Choir. Christmas Day Communion will be at 9 a.m. Children attending Sunday School on Dec. 26 will enjoy special religious films, singing, and a party with their classes.

Emmanuel Baptist season programs

Special programs planned for this month by Emmanuel Baptist Church, 1800 Pontoon Road, will include a morning service on Sunday, Dec. 19, to be a combined children, youth, adult and college career choir who will sing the musical, "His Love Reaching" by Gloria and Bill Galtner.

Soloists will include Dwayne and Linda Bridges, Bill and Cindy Patterson, Donna Hennrich, Ron Stagner and MarJean Ellsworth.

Narrations will be by Kenny Nash, Mike Harper, Tom Carpenter, Dale Parker and Scott Jorgensen. Bill Ellsworth directs the choir.

The Rev. Arthur J. Short, pastor, announces the evening worship service on Dec. 19 will be the annual Christmas program of the Sunday School department. Education director Jo Ann Short will direct a play entitled, "A Modern Christmas Carol," a spinoff of the classic Dickens' tale, but set in the 20th century idiom.

Cast members will be Mike Arakaki, Mike Harper, Donna Hennrich, Debbie Stredway, Scott Jorgensen, Janet Seibert, Dale Parker, Jim Thurman, Karen Sisk, David Parker, Terry Harsh, Ronnie Burre, Tommy Burne, David Sisk, Dave Williams, Kim Smith, Susan Beasley, Randy Thurman, Bradley Badgett, Churn Burre, Lori Martin, Marcia Fischer, Alan Arakaki. Afterward the group will be entertained at a Christmas social hour in the fellowship hall, according to Dwayne Bridges, Sunday School superintendent.

Dec. 26 will be the "March For Mission" and the entire church will lay their monetary gifts for Foreign Mission on the altar during the morning worship service. Pastor Short reports the goal of the church is a $1,200 offering for foreign missions. The Southern Baptist Convention has more missionaries on the foreign fields than any other denomination, the minister added.

The youth of the church will attend an all-night party Dec. 31, and will gather to see the New Year ring in. After midnight there will be a skating party and a movie party and a "see the sunrise" breakfast. During the month of December the youth have ministered by visiting hospitals and nursing homes with songs and cookies, decorating the church and making a gift box for a teenager who is seriously ill. They will attend the Youth Encounter in Springfield, Ill., featuring the "Good News Radio" on Dec. 29 and 30.

Senior Club dinner Saturday evening

A Christmas banquet for members of the Senior Citizens Association of the Tri-Cities (SCAT), sponsored by Tri-City Park, Tabernacle, Maryville Road and Clark Avenue, will be held at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 18, according to Rev. Clarence Barr, pastor for the group.

All area senior citizens are invited to join the organization and attend the dinner to be held in the church, Rev. Barr added.

St. John Lutheran holiday services

A Christmas candlelight service at St. John Lutheran Church, St. Clair and Dale avenues, will begin Christmas festivities at that church Sunday, Dec. 19, at 7 p.m. Entering the darkened church sanctuary, with light emanating only from the overhead Herrnhuter (Moravian) Star and from candles of the choristers, will be the two church choirs, in a candlelight procession.

Singers will assemble on the front steps of the church. The congregation will then be invited to sing along as the choirs proclaim the Christmas gospel through favorite and traditional carols and Christmas hymns. At the organ will be Seminarian Robert Carr.

The Children's Choir will then offer two numbers, "Bethlehem Lullaby," and "Go Tell it on the Mountain." Director is Mrs. Diane Gebhardt and accompanist is Miss Debbi Gebhardt.

Singing from the balcony, the Senior Church Choir will offer several of the Christmas choruses from Handel's Messiah. Mrs. Josephine Diak and Mrs. Diane Gebhardt will do the recitatives appropriate to the Christmas season.

American, German, Ukrainian, and Slovak Christmas carols will follow. During the service, young people of the congregation will present nativity pageantry in the chancel of the church. A candlelight recessional will close the service.

Ladies of the Women's Service Guild will serve light refreshments to all following the service, in the downstairs fellowship hall. The public is invited to the evening's festivities, according to the Rev. Samuel Boda.

The Senior Church Choir will visit the local hospital and nursing homes where church members are residing and sing carols at 6 p.m. on Dec. 22. Carolers will also visit homes of church members, especially the aged, as time permits, Rev. Boda added.

1904 theme for center's opening

"Meet Me in St. Louis" will be the theme of a three-week festival to start July 24, 1977, which will officially open the St. Louis Gateway Convention and Exhibition Center, 500 N. Broadway.

Robert Hyland, regional vice president of the CBS Radio Division and chairman of the opening festival, and Eugene L. Beckler, director of the St. Louis Convention Center, said the event will be free to the public.

It will include an exhibition and trade show of products and services not only from this metropolitan area but from business, industry and organizations located throughout the United States. A theme center will feature sports and entertainment celebrities.

"Meet Me in St. Louis" will revive the spirit of the 1904 World's Fair with period costumes, an old-fashioned farm market and turn-of-the-century entertainment, including jazz and ragtime.

In addition to ongoing food service, ice cream cones, hot dogs and iced tea, made famous at the 1904 fair, will be highlighted.

Cities and towns in the St. Louis metropolitan area as well as those in surrounding states will be saluted at the festival with one-day celebrations. Each community selected will be honored for what has made it famous—sports teams, products, personalities, buildings, schools, etc.

"It is our hope that the grand opening festival will give people an opportunity to see for the first time the enormous, $35 million facility and its many unique services and facilities," Hyland said.

"The festival's hundreds of exhibits and numerous outstanding special events have been planned to show the Convention Center visitors all that this area has to offer in an exciting and interesting way."

"We anticipate that more than 100,000 people will attend the three-week event and that it will draw not only local but national attention," he commented.

Members of the executive committee of the ad hoc committee are: J. A. Baer II, Clarence C. Barksdale, William V. Bidwill, Donald E. Breckenridge, Mrs. David R. Calhoun.

R. Hal Dean, Vaughan P. "Bing" Devine, John W. Hanley, Mrs. Edwin S. Jones, Donald E. Laaster, Richard Manita, Morton D. May, Eugene N. Mitchell, M.D., Mrs. Lawrence K. Ross, Bruce R. Smith Jr., Mrs. Wayman F. Smith III and Mrs. Raymond H. Witloff.

The entire ad hoc committee includes Barksdale, Breckenridge, William E. Douthett, Jack Garagnani, Ralph M. Hansen, James W. Hart, Hyland, Morris B. Landau, Laaster, Miss Barbara Mahon, Manita, May, Harry T. Morley Jr., James H. Orley, the Rev. Sal Polizzi, Steve Roberts, Leonard Statkin, Smith, Alderwoman Leri Stewart, Johnnie A. Tolver and Warren L. Traflet.

Symbolic Christmas tree differs from country to country

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

The Christmas season is a time for fasting in Hungary and for decorating a palm tree in Jamaica.

In a Croatian village the only tree seen at the holiday season is located in the village square, around which the children gather to receive gifts on Christmas morning.

Artificial nuts and apples decorate the Christmas trees in France, symbolic of the tree in the Garden of Eden.

Christmas customs and the significance of the Christmas tree in different lands were topics of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Huber, who narrated a series of colored slides at the annual Christmas banquet of Travelers Abroad last week.

The dinner and program were held in the Officers Club at the Granite City Army Installation.

The Hubers explained the trees shown in the slide sequences were displayed at the Gateway Arch Museum, St. Louis, in 1975. The exhibition was under the auspices of the Ethnic American Community of Greater St. Louis.

Each tree was decorated according to the customs of a specific nation and written posters described the manner in which the people of that land observed the Christmas season, the Hubers said.

The Hungarian people fast on Dec. 24 until the evening hours when a large amount of straw is placed beneath the dining table, representing the manger, and a lighted candle is set in the window for the Christ Child to see.

In contrast, the celebration in Mexico is more elaborate and starts on Dec. 16. From that date until Dec. 24, one family goes from house to house each night carrying lighted candles and requesting admittance to the home.

Each night they are refused entrance. On Christmas Eve, the family carries a statue of the baby Jesus, placed in a cradle, and the group is then admitted to every home in the neighborhood.

As no evergreens are found in Jamaica, the people cleverly construct their Christmas tree from native palms and, in Bolivia, the tree is severely plain to show how poor and humble was the birthplace of Jesus.

St. Nicholas Day, Dec. 6, is celebrated in Czechoslovakia, where a man dressed to represent the generous saint is accompanied by an "angel" and goes about the villages distributing treats to the "good" children.

Close behind good old St. Nicholas, comes another figure a red devil — who bears sticks and coals for those children who are "bad." On Christmas Day, the children's gifts are said to come from the Christ child, not Santa Claus.

Colorful pieces of plaid and white tinsel are used in Scotland to adorn the Christmas tree, which has no lights and no nativity scene around it.

The Russian tree, also unlighted, bears a small "angel" figure and little else.

Many religious pictures decorate the unilluminated Armenian tree, but the plainest tree of all is the Serbian tree, which is situated on a bed of straw, signifying the manger.

White doves and white tinsel are used on the Vietnamese tree, and gifts are placed in the shoes of French children, whose Christmas tree has artificial nuts and apples in abundance.

The Irish had no evergreen tree, but use a goodly display of native holly. It appears the exchange of gifts and the practice of Christmas decorating did not begin in Ireland until the early 20th century.

The entire family gets together in Poland on Christmas Eve, when each member breaks a wafer and gifts are exchanged.

Festivities continue for 12 days in Norway, but at 6 p.m. on Christmas Day, all folklocking comes to a pause and the family sits down to a Christmas meal before going to church. Each home has a decorated Christmas tree which is not removed until the 20th day after Christmas.

Candy and nuts wrapped in brightly-colored paper adorn the German and Austrian fir trees. Festivities start on the first Sunday in Advent.

It is believed the Christ Child flies through the window at Christmastime, lights the tree and leaves gifts for the youngsters.

Mothers in Greece bake large loaves of bread with a cross on the top and a coin secreted inside. The person finding the coin in his slice of bread is assured of happiness and prosperity throughout the year.

On the 12th day of Christmas, the Greek villagers gather at the top and a coin secreted inside. The priest tosses coins into the water and the boys dive to retrieve them.

A beautifully decorated tree is placed in the central square of a Croatian village, where children gather on Christmas morning to receive their gifts. None of the homes, however, have individual Christmas trees.

Paper chains, flags and pictures of all member nations decorate the United Nations' tree at Christmastime.

The program concluded with several views of the enormous Christmas tree which stood last year in front of the City Hall in Chicago.

The tree was made up of some 50 small trees, skillfully fastened together to appear as one giant evergreen covered with a myriad of brilliant lights.

UNDAUNTED BY WEATHER, Barb Koishor and Diana Holmes, neighbors who live on Washington Avenue in Granite City, walk across the mall at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville during a cold, snowy December day. The two are not only neighbors and friends, but also are both juniors majoring in earth science.

DECKING THE LOUNGE with trees and holly. Students of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville got into the Christmas spirit by decorating Goshen Lounge in the University Center. Several strings of lights, bountiful bulbs and "tons" of tinsel completed the Christmas tree. Helpers included Cindy Huckleberry, Granite City, a junior working toward a bachelor degree in recreation. The University Center will be closed during the holidays from Dec. 23 through Jan. 2.

50TH ANNIVERSARY of the dedication of the Concordia Lutheran Church, 23rd Street and Grand Avenue, will be celebrated in special services Sunday.

First services in the church building were held on the Sunday before Christmas in 1926.

Association for Retarded holds Yule parties

The Tri-City Association for the Retarded entertained two groups with a Christmas party on Friday evening for the Young Adults and a Christmas carnival for the elementary children on Saturday afternoon at St. John's United Church of Christ.

Mrs. Emma Relleke was chairperson of the Friday evening party. Games were played and dinner was served. The Rhythm Band of the American Association of Retarded Persons entertained with skills by Julia Mainer and Evelyn Blattner. Members of the Young Adults joined in the skits and dancing while the band played. Group singing was enjoyed.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Genevieve Hellrich was chairperson to a large group of children. She was assisted by Mrs. Relleke, the Maecenas Ladies, Ted Scrum, John Simpson and a Shriner clown. A group of girls led by Edna Hellrich became clowns for the day with interesting makeup and costumes.

These girls led the children in games. She was assisted by Beth Hicks, Joan Gerlud and Beth Carbaugh.

"The Night Before Christmas" movie was shown. The Rhythm Band of the American Association of Retarded persons played and led singing. While they were playing, Santa appeared with gifts for the children. The Maecenas Ladies served refreshments.

The clown was a favorite with the children with his animal-shaped balloons.

Concordia to observe 50th year of church dedication

Concordia Lutheran Church, 23rd Street and Grand Avenue will celebrate Sunday the 50th anniversary of the dedication of its church.

It was on the Sunday before Christmas in 1926 that Concordia, after worshipping for months at McKinley School, held its first service in its new $100,000 building.

Theodore Steinmeyer of St. Louis was the architect for the first American Gothic brick church in the area.

Pastor Leroy Biesenthal, evangelism-stewardship director of the Missouri District of the Lutheran Church Missouri Synod will preach the festival sermon. Pastor Arvin Twietmeyer, Concordia's present pastor, will be the liturgical celebrant and Mrs. June Barton will be at the organ.

The anniversary celebration will begin with a brief devotion and prayer at 9:30 a.m. in McKinley School and the congregation then will go to the church for worship at 10:15.

The Laymen's League and the Ladies Aid of Concordia will host the congregation after worship to a covered dish dinner, to be followed by reminiscing over old days with dusted-off pictures, Rev. Twietmeyer said.

The anniversary observance will be concluded with an Advent-Christmas concert-worship in which Victor Freudenberg, teacher at Zion Lutheran School at Belleville, and organist-choir director of Zion Lutheran School at Belleville, and organist-choir director of Zion Lutheran Church, will be at the organ.

The concert on Concordia's new 44 rank Allen organ will include arrangements of carols by J.S. Bach, D. Buxtehude, Paul Manz, Prior Peeters, Ralph Vaughn Williams and by Freudenberg himself. The congregation will sing some of the carols.

At the time when Concordia built its church, it also was operating a Lutheran Day School. But when the depression struck with full force in the early 30's, despite penny-a-month banks in all its homes, in order to maintain interest and principle payments on its new

Full funding of school aid formula is sought

The State Board of Education has prepared a tentative budget request of $1,957,000,000 for elementary, secondary and vocational education for 1977-78 and the increase of $237 million represents, according to State Supt. Joseph M. Cronin, a "full funding" budget for mandated state formula programs.

"Our major concern is that the state live up to past commitments to the schools and that we pay our fair share for basic skills, career and handicapped education programs," Dr. Cronin said.

Major increases are projected for special education, vocational and regular pupil transportation.

The budget includes a $138 million increase to provide for full funding of general aid for all public schools.

A $20 million increase for Downstate and Chicago teacher retirement funds also is included in the State Education Board budget.

New funds would finance career education and "responsibility education" programs at the local level.

Special education programs account for a $38 million increase, the largest of any program area, and would comply with state and federal statutory requirements.

Vocational education is to increase by $4 million and transportation by $14 million. Other grant areas include adult education, bilingual education and the free textbook program.

The State Board also will consider desegregation assistance to metropolitan area school districts and comprehensive health education teacher training.

Driver education and school lunch program funding remain at levels similar to the current fiscal year.

Dr. Cronin told the State Board that the increases requested amount to less than 50 percent of the new revenues projected for Illinois next year. A School Finance Task Force chaired by John McCarter four years ago recommended that the school finance program could be funded if half of the new state revenues were dedicated to school programs.

Summaries of the tentative budget are available at the Illinois Office of Education

SENIOR CITIZEN BUS SCHEDULE. This map shows the five sections of Granite City which will be used to schedule the new CHORBUS (Community Handicapped and Older Riders Bus) on a first call, first served basis.

The bus will serve each section one day each week as follows: Monday, Section Five; Tuesday, Section One; Wednesday, Section Four; Thursday, Section Three; and Friday, Section Two.

The bus also will be used from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. daily in all sections to transport persons to the Senior Citizen Center, 1920 Edison Ave., for nutrition program meals.

Other than the daily meal program, the portion of the bus service limited to one day a week will enable residents to go to various locations in Granite City to visit physicians' offices, to transact business at government offices, to report for hospital outpatient treatment and to patronize retail stores. Senior citizens who can instead travel with relatives or friends are being encouraged to continue to do so, in order not to overload the new free service.

Section One is bordered on the north by the city limits, on the west by Nameoki Road and on the south by Johnson Road. Section Two is bordered on the north by Johnson Road, on the west by Nameoki Road and on the east and south primarily by the city limits. Section Three is limited on the east by Nameoki Road, north by Madison Avenue, west by 23rd Street and south by Highway 162 (Edwardsville Road). Section Four is bordered by Nameoki Road on the east, Madison Avenue on the south and the Norfolk and Western railroad tracks on the north. Section Five is bordered on the north and west by the city limits and on the south by the Norfolk and Western tracks.

By calling the Granite City Township Office, 877-8584, arrangements for transportation can be made.

Farm prices may not go any lower

Farm prices, as a whole, have probably "bottomed out" and will not fall much lower, predicts Jim Gill, director of market analysis for the Illinois Farm Bureau.

Individual farm commodities, such as hogs, may show price weakness. But the price of competing products, such as beef cattle, could strengthen, Gill told a marketing and commodities conference at the Illinois Farm Bureau annual meeting in Chicago during the weekend.

An index of all commodities traded on U.S. exchanges peaked during the oil crisis of 1974, Gill said. The index has dropped since, and has been moving "sideways" — indicating little change — since about a month before the Nov. 3 election.

"Buyers and sellers in the marketplace may be waiting to see if inflation takes off again," Gill said. "If the inflation rate grows, the numbers get bigger."

"Unlike in recent years, individual farm commodities will probably follow their own supply and demand signals in coming years, independent of each other."

"Corn, soybeans and wheat, for example, will not rise and fall together. Bean prices have been increasing during the past few months, while wheat prices have been falling."

"Fluctuations in the price of commodities make farm management decisions more difficult," Gill said. "On the other hand, upswings in prices give the farmer more opportunity for profit."

"Farmers have stable prices only at cost-of-production levels or below."

"But, in order to take advantage of market changes farmers must be students of the market and go contrary to popular opinion on occasion."

Contributory plan to follow GI Bill

GI Bill training will decline slightly during the 1976-77 fiscal year, the Veterans Administration forecasts, but enrollment is expected to remain above the two million mark for the fourth consecutive year.

During October, 1.2 million students were using their GI Bill entitlement, down slightly from the previous year at the same time. The decline is attributed primarily to the expiration of entitlement for those veterans who were discharged from services more than 10 years ago.

Another factor, VA officials explain, is that millions of veterans have used their full educational entitlement under the law or have completed their educational objective.

More than 6.7 million persons have trained under the current GI Bill since it became available in 1966. Enrollment peaked last year with a record 2.8 million trainees, up 4.8 per cent from the 2.7 million in the 1974-75 fiscal year.

Still eligible for educational assistance are ex-servicemen with other than dishonorable discharges who have been separated less than 10 years and those who remain on active duty.

Legislation enacted last month denies entitlement under the current law to those who enter military service after Dec. 31, 1976, and sets Dec. 31, 1989, as the date by which all GI

Bill training will terminate.

For thousands of GI Bill students, many of whom have already earned college degrees, the new law provides an additional nine months of training entitlement.

For those veterans who have not passed the 10-year delimiting date, the law extends entitlement from 36 to 45 months.

Those entering service after Dec. 31, 1976, will be encouraged to enroll in a voluntary contributory educational assistance program, administered jointly by the Department of Defense and the Veterans Administration.

The program offers 36 months educational assistance entitlement with a 10-year delimiting date.

Participants allocate $50 to $75 monthly from their salaries in 12-month segments, up to a maximum of $2,700.

When the participant leaves service, the contributions will be matched by the VA at the rate of $2 for every $1 he has allocated. Payments will be limited to the number of months the member contributed or 36 months, whichever is less.

Catherine Hennrich wed in candlelight ceremony

The wedding of Miss Catherine Ann Hennrich and Kenneth W. Janish was solemnized at the Chapel of the Cross, St. Louis, on Nov. 20.

Winter white flowers and greenery adorned the altar for the double ring ceremony performed at 6:30 p.m. by Pastor Milton Nauas.

Miss Lisa Groothuis presided at the organ and accompanied Paul Mahrey as he sang, "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hennrich, 3258 Franklin Ave. Parents of the groom are Mrs. Dorothy Janish, 3074 Canaan, St. Louis and the late Richard Janish.

An ivory chiffon Empire silhouette gown enhanced with Alencon lace was worn by the bride. The lace trim marked the sheer yoke, high neckline and encircled the waistline.

The long full sleeves were deeply cuffed and trimmed with scallop lace and her long skirt fell softly into a chapel train. She wore a lace camelot headpiece to hold in place a long veil of bridal illusion.

Maid of honor Miss Carolyn Jenkins and bridesmaids Mrs. Linda Spilker and Miss Mary Stroyoff, selected identical designed gowns in rust-color jersey. They were created with a halter bodice featuring a high neckline and worn with long sleeved hooded coats.

Chip Baker attended the groom as best man. Bill Spilker, Alan and Tom Hennrich, brothers of the bride, and Greg McLaughlin, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception hosted at the Operating Engineer's Hall in Mitchell. A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom at Mr. Yac's Restaurant, St. Louis.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hennrich, chose a floral green chiffon print gown featuring a V-neckline and long sleeves. The groom's mother was attired in a jade chiffon full length dress designed with a V-neckline and cape effect neckline.

A Granite City High School South graduate, the bride is employed at the U.S. Army Aviation Systems Command, St. Louis. The groom is an account manager at the Campbell Soup Co. and graduated from Florissant Valley Community College. They are residing in Florissant, Mo.

MRS. KENNETH JANISH who was married in an evening ceremony at the Chapel of the Cross, St. Louis. Formerly Miss Catherine Ann Hennrich, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hennrich, 3258 Franklin Ave. (Continued on Page 57)
